ছাড়া → মতামত (শুধু প্রশ্ন মতামত চাইলে)।

- Body 1 = সুবিধা, Body 2 = অসুবিধা — প্রতিটিতে ঠিক 7টি বাক্য: Topic → Point → Explain → Example → Point → Explain → Summary ।
- Body 1 linker: There is little doubt that... → To begin with → This is because → For example → In addition → As a result → Overall।
- Body 2 linker: On the other hand, it cannot be denied that... → Firstly → "; as a result," → For instance → Secondly → If... consequently → শেষ বাক্য: Type 1 হলে Overall, these...; সুবিধার পক্ষে হলে Although these [problems]..., most...; অসুবিধার পক্ষে হলে Although some [people]..., these [problems] often...।
- Conclusion: In conclusion + নতুন paraphrase → While + দুই দিক, Although বাক্যের একই ক্রমে → মতামত আবার বলো (শুধু প্রশ্ন মতামত চাইলে)।
- 🚫 প্রশ্ন মতামত না চাইলে (Type 1): Introduction ও Conclusion-এ মাত্র 2টি বাক্য। মতামত লিখবে না, আর "This essay will examine both the benefits and the drawbacks..." ধরনের plan sentence-ও লিখবে না — এটি মুখস্থ করা বাক্য মনে হয় এবং নতুন কোনো idea যোগ করে না। Introduction শেষ হবে Although বাক্যে, essay শেষ হবে While বাক্যে।
- ⭐ Emphasis rule: Although/While বাক্যে পাঠক সবসময় শেষের idea (comma-র পরের অংশ)-কে তোমার মত হিসেবে ধরে। তাই সুবিধার পক্ষে হলে আগে অসুবিধা, পরে সুবিধা; অসুবিধার পক্ষে হলে আগে সুবিধা, পরে অসুবিধা। Type 1-এ (মতামত নেই) সাধারণত আগে অসুবিধা, পরে সুবিধা।

- Introduction (2টি বাক্য): paraphrase → 2টি কারণ বা সমস্যা, but + 2টি সমাধান।
- Body 1 = 2টি কারণ বা সমস্যা: Point → Explain → Example → Point → Explain → Link ।
- Body 2 = 2টি সমাধান: Solution → Explain → Example → Solution → Explain → Link ।
- ⭐ Mirror rule: সমাধান 1 ঠিক করে কারণ বা সমস্যা 1, সমাধান 2 ঠিক করে কারণ বা সমস্যা 2। প্রতিটি সমাধানে থাকবে কে করবে, কী করবে, আর তাতে কীভাবে কাজ হবে (WHO + WHAT + HOW)।
- Conclusion (2টি বাক্য): কারণ বা সমস্যা নতুন শব্দে → সমাধান নতুন শব্দে + চূড়ান্ত ফল। নতুন কোনো idea নয়।
- শব্দসংখ্যা: সহজ হিসাব: 35 + 105 + 105 + 35 = 280।
- একই পরিবারের অন্য প্রশ্ন (guide Section 14): শুধু সমাধান, দুই পক্ষের সমাধান, বা শুধু সমস্যা চাইলে প্রতিটি body paragraph-এ একটিই idea: Point / Solution → Explain → Explain → Example → Link । মতামত নয়।

Double Question essay (1টি) — নতুন নির্দিষ্ট কাঠামো (IELTS_Double_Question_Essay_Guide.md অনুযায়ী):

Example → Response (Although some people argue that...) → Link (Therefore...)। Body 2-তে শুরু: As for whether...

- কেন / কী / কীভাবে জানতে চাইলে = List block (2টি idea): Point → Explain → Example → Point → Explain → Link (Consequently... / Together, these measures would...)। সমাধান হলে Point-এর জায়গায় Solution । List block-এ "I" লিখবে না।
- ⭐ "do you think" ফাঁদ: প্রশ্নের প্রথম শব্দ দেখো। Why do you think...? আসলে কারণ চায় (List), মত নয়।
- ⭐ "other" ফাঁদ: প্রশ্নে other থাকলে প্রশ্নে দেওয়া idea বাদ দিয়ে নতুন idea লেখো।
- Introduction (2টি বাক্য): paraphrase → [উত্তর 1], and [উত্তর 2]। মতের কারণ Introduction-এ নয়, Opinion block-এর শুরুতে।
- Conclusion (2টি বাক্য): In conclusion, [উত্তর 1 নতুন শব্দে]. [উত্তর 2 নতুন শব্দে]. কোনো প্রশ্নই মত না চাইলে (List + List) কোথাও "I" নয়।
- শব্দসংখ্যা: সহজ হিসাব: 35 + 105 + 105 + 35 = 280।

Model Answers

1. HEA-01 — Prevention or treatment?

> The prevention of health problems and illness is more important than treatment and medicine. Government funding should reflect this. To what extent do you agree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely agree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Prevention versus Treatment: Government Health Spending
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	4 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 45 · BP1 115 · BP2 110 · Conclusion 39 · Total 309

Introduction · 45 words

It is often argued that stopping people from becoming ill matters more than curing them, and that public health budgets should follow this principle. I completely agree with this view because prevention is far cheaper than treatment and it also protects people's quality of life.

Body Paragraph 1 · 115 words

Point The main reason why I agree with this idea is that prevention is far cheaper than treatment. Explain This is because it is usually far cheaper to prevent a disease than to treat it, and public money is always limited. Explain Encouraging people to stop smoking, eat healthily and exercise can reduce the number of people who develop lung cancer, diabetes and heart disease; as a result, hospitals have more money for other patients. Example For example, a campaign that helps thousands of people to stop smoking costs much less than treating them for lung cancer, and this saved money can then be used for other health services. Link Therefore, prevention is an investment that makes treatment more affordable.

Body Paragraph 2 · 110 words

Point Another important reason for my agreement is that prevention protects people's quality of life. Explain When people avoid serious illness, they can continue to work, study and care for their families, and they do not have to suffer pain or long hospital stays. Example For instance, a middle-aged worker whose high blood pressure is found during a regular check-up can change their diet and avoid a heart attack, which keeps them healthy and working. Response Although some people argue that people will still have accidents, catch infections, develop genetic illnesses and grow old, hospitals will need fewer resources when preventable diseases decline. Link Consequently, government funding should give prevention the priority that it deserves.

Conclusion · 39 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that stopping illness should be more important than curing it in public health spending. Early action saves large sums of public money, and it also allows citizens to live longer and more active lives.

2. HEA-02 — Why are more people overweight?

The number of people who are at risk of serious health problems due to being overweight is increasing. What is the reason for the growth in overweight people in society? How can this problem be solved?

Essay type	Cause and Solution
Position	Causes: unhealthy diets and a lack of physical activity. Solutions: rules that make healthy food easier to choose; more chances for daily exercise.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Obesity: Causes and Responsibility · Fast Food, Processed Food and Modern Diets · Exercise, Walking and the Sedentary Lifestyle
Structure	Cause/Problem + Solution guide: 2 causes or problems + 2 solutions → BP1 (P E X P E L) → BP2, each solution fixing one point (N E X N E L) → Same ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	4 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 38 · BP1 117 · BP2 109 · Conclusion 32 · Total 296

Introduction · 38 words

A growing number of people now face serious health risks because they are overweight. This is mainly because of unhealthy diets and a lack of exercise, but healthier food policies and more active routines can tackle this problem.

Body Paragraph 1 · 117 words

Point One of the main causes of this trend is an unhealthy diet, especially the regular consumption of fast food, sweets, fried snacks and sugary drinks. Explain Portion sizes have also grown, and many people eat more calories than their bodies need. Example For example, an office worker who buys a burger and a sugary drink every lunchtime may eat too many calories, and this extra energy is stored as fat. Point Another important cause is a lack of physical activity. Explain Many jobs now involve sitting at a desk all day, people travel by car or motorbike instead of walking, and leisure time is often spent watching television or using smartphones. Link Consequently, many people burn far fewer calories than they consume.

Body Paragraph 2 · 109 words

Solution The most effective solution is for governments to make healthy food the easier choice. Explain If they tax sugary drinks and require clear food labels, people are less likely to buy unhealthy products. Example For instance, an office worker who sees the sugar content on a clearly labelled drink may choose water instead, which reduces their daily calories. Solution In addition, governments and individuals could make exercise part of daily life. Explain When cities build parks and cycle lanes, people can walk or cycle more, and even simple activities, such as walking for thirty minutes a day, can make a significant difference. Link Together, these measures would help people to maintain a healthy weight.

Conclusion · 32 words

In conclusion, more people are overweight because they eat too many calories and move too little. Clearer rules on food and more chances for daily activity would help people to stay healthy.

3. HEA-03 — More school sport for overweight children?

The amount of time spent on sport and exercise should be increased in schools in order to tackle the problem of overweight children. Do you think this is the best way to deal with the problem? What other solutions can you suggest?

Essay type	Double Question — Opinion + List (opinion + other solutions)
Position	More school sport is not the best way, because diet matters more; healthier school food and better habits at home would work better. Same essay as Model Essay B in the Double Question guide.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Children's Health, School Sport and Physical Education · Fast Food, Processed Food and Modern Diets
Structure	Double Question guide (Opinion + List): Answer 1 + answer 2 → BP1 = Q1, Opinion block (P E X R L) → BP2 = Q2, List block (P E X P E L) → Both answers in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	2 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 38 · BP1 109 · BP2 113 · Conclusion 37 · Total 297

Introduction · 38 words

More school sport is often suggested as an answer to the rising number of overweight children. I firmly believe that this is not the best way, and healthier school meals and better habits at home would work better.

Body Paragraph 1 · 109 words

Point I firmly believe that extra school sport is not the best way to tackle this problem because diet has a stronger effect on weight than exercise. Explain When children regularly eat more calories than their bodies need, one extra hour of activity cannot balance them, so they continue to gain weight. Example For example, a child who plays football for an hour at school but drinks several cans of soft drink and eats fried snacks at home will still gain weight. Response Although some people argue that physical education keeps children active, it cannot undo the effects of an unhealthy diet. Link Therefore, increasing school sport alone cannot be the most effective answer.

Body Paragraph 2 · 113 words

Solution The most effective alternative is for schools to improve the food that they provide. Explain If schools offer healthy lunches, sell fruit instead of sweets and remove sugary drinks from vending machines, children will find healthy choices much easier. Example For instance, a pupil who can no longer buy a soft drink at break may start drinking water instead, which removes a large amount of sugar from their diet. Solution In addition, parents could build better habits at home. Explain When they prepare home-cooked meals and limit screen time, children eat fewer fried snacks and spend more time playing outside. Link Together, these measures would tackle the main causes of childhood obesity far more effectively than extra sport.

Conclusion · 37 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that adding more sport to the timetable is not the ideal answer because food matters more. Healthier school food and sensible routines at home would help children to reach a healthy weight.

4. HEA-04 — A return to traditional medicine?

More and more people are suffering from health problems caused by a modern life style which cannot be treated with modern medicines. Some people think that a return to traditional medicine should be encouraged. To what extent do you agree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Traditional Medicine and Modern Medicine
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	4 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 44 · BP1 116 · BP2 109 · Conclusion 39 · Total 308

Introduction · 44 words

Because modern medicines cannot cure many illnesses caused by today's way of life, it is sometimes claimed that people should go back to traditional remedies. I completely disagree with this view because these treatments can be dangerous and lifestyle diseases really need lifestyle change.

Body Paragraph 1 · 116 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that many traditional treatments can be dangerous. Explain This is because many traditional remedies have not been scientifically tested, so it is often unclear whether they work, what dose is safe or whether they interact dangerously with other medicines. Explain People may use traditional remedies instead of seeking proper medical treatment for serious illnesses; as a result, diagnosis may be delayed until it is too late. Example For example, a patient with a serious infection who drinks herbal tea instead of taking antibiotics may become much worse, and this delay can even cost them their life. Link Therefore, encouraging a return to these treatments would put many patients at risk.

Body Paragraph 2 · 109 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that lifestyle diseases really need lifestyle change. Explain When people become ill because of how they live, the answer is not necessarily traditional medicine but lifestyle change itself: better diet, more exercise, less stress and no smoking. Example For instance, an office worker with high blood pressure can improve their health by walking every day and eating less salt, which requires no special remedy at all. Response Although some people argue that some traditional remedies are cheap and easily available, low cost does not make a treatment safe or effective. Link Consequently, governments should promote healthy habits instead of encouraging people to rely on untested treatments.

Conclusion · 39 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that traditional medicine should not be promoted as the answer to modern health problems. Untested remedies can seriously harm patients, and healthier daily habits are a far better way to deal with these conditions.

5. HEA-05 — Should healthcare be free for everyone?

Health care should not be provided for free regardless of a person's income. The health of a person is in their own hands and they should, therefore, be held accountable for that. Do you agree with this opinion?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Free Healthcare: Who Should Pay? · Prevention versus Treatment
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	6 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 44 · BP1 115 · BP2 110 · Conclusion 36 · Total 305

Introduction · 44 words

It is sometimes claimed that medical care should not be free for everyone, because each person controls their own health and should pay for it. I completely disagree with this view because many illnesses are beyond people's control and poor families cannot afford treatment.

Body Paragraph 1 · 115 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that many illnesses are beyond people's control. Explain This is because many illnesses are caused by genetics, accidents, poverty, pollution or old age, not by personal choices. Explain Nobody chooses to be born with a weak heart or to be injured in a road accident; as a result, it is wrong to blame patients for most medical problems. Example For example, a child who develops a serious disease cannot be held responsible for it, and their treatment should not depend on what their parents earn. Link Therefore, health is not simply in people's own hands, and it would also be very difficult and unfair to decide who "deserves" treatment.

Body Paragraph 2 · 110 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that poor families cannot afford treatment. Explain When medical care is not free, poor families may delay seeing a doctor until a problem becomes serious, or they may have to sell land, borrow money or take children out of school to pay medical bills. Example For instance, in many developing countries, a single serious illness can push a family into long-term poverty, which can affect their children for many years. Response Although some people argue that taxes must be high to pay for it, no one should be denied treatment because they cannot afford it. Link Consequently, essential healthcare should remain free regardless of a person's income.

Conclusion · 36 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that every citizen should receive free medical care, whatever their income. Much sickness has nothing to do with personal choices, and free treatment also protects low-income households from debt and hardship.

6. HEA-06 — Is daily exercise the best way to improve health?

The best way to improve health is to exercise daily. To what extent do you agree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Exercise, Walking and the Sedentary Lifestyle · Fast Food · Mental Health and Stress
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	5 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 42 · BP1 115 · BP2 118 · Conclusion 38 · Total 313

Introduction · 42 words

It is sometimes claimed that exercising every day is the most effective way to become healthier. I completely disagree with this view because exercise cannot cancel the effects of a poor diet and good health also depends on sleep and low stress.

Body Paragraph 1 · 115 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that exercise cannot cancel the effects of a poor diet. Explain This is because many fast foods and processed meals are high in fat, sugar and salt, but low in vitamins, minerals and fibre. Explain A person can easily eat more calories in one meal than they burn during a long walk; as a result, daily exercise alone may not prevent weight gain or illness. Example For example, a person who jogs every morning but drinks several soft drinks a day may still develop diabetes, and this shows that food has a powerful effect on health. Link Therefore, a healthy diet is at least as important as physical activity.

Body Paragraph 2 · 118 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that good health also depends on enough sleep and low stress. Explain When people feel anxious or sleep badly, their bodies and minds suffer, because a person who exercises every day but eats a poor diet, smokes, sleeps badly or suffers from constant stress will not be completely healthy. Example For instance, a student who goes to the gym daily but studies until three every morning may still feel exhausted and depressed, which can damage their mental health. Response Although some people argue that physical activity helps people to maintain a healthy weight, on its own it is not enough. Link Consequently, a balanced approach is a better way to improve health than exercise alone.

Conclusion · 38 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that daily exercise is not the best single way to improve health. Physical activity cannot make up for unhealthy eating, and people also need proper rest and a calm mind to stay well.

7. HEA-07 — Public health: government or individuals?

Some people think that public health is the responsibility of the government while others think that people should be responsible for their own health. Discuss both sides and give your opinion.

Essay type	Discussion (both views + opinion)
Position	Public health is the responsibility of the government.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Obesity: Causes and Responsibility · Free Healthcare · Health Taxes and Laws
Structure	Discuss Both Views guide: Both views + clean opinion → BP1 the other view (P E E X L) → BP2 my view (P E X R L) → Both themes + opinion in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	5 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 38 · BP1 99 · BP2 120 · Conclusion 41 · Total 298

Introduction · 38 words

While some people argue that every person should be responsible for their own health, others believe that public health is the duty of governments. I completely support the latter view because individual choices depend on the wider environment.

Body Paragraph 1 · 99 words

Point On the one hand, people who support personal responsibility argue that health depends largely on daily choices. Explain Adults choose what they eat and whether they exercise, and parents decide what their children eat at home. Explain A person who smokes, drinks heavily or eats a very unhealthy diet is choosing to increase their risk of illness. Example For example, no law can force a person to go for a walk or stop eating sweets at home, and these small decisions can shape their health for years. Link For this reason, many people believe that individuals should take responsibility for their own health.

Body Paragraph 2 · 120 words

Point On the other hand, I firmly believe that public health is the government's duty because individuals make their choices within an environment that is shaped by powerful food companies, advertising, city planning and prices. Explain When unhealthy food is cheaper than healthy food, and when there are no parks or safe footpaths, it is difficult for people to stay healthy. Example For instance, a low-income family that lives far from any park and cannot afford fresh food may rely on cheap fried snacks, which increases the risk of obesity. Response Although some people argue that adults freely choose their habits, those choices are limited by what is available and affordable. Link Consequently, governments must create a healthier environment so that public health can improve.

Conclusion · 41 words

In conclusion, people hold different views on whether governments or individuals should be responsible for public health. While personal habits affect everyone's health, I firmly believe that this duty belongs to governments because they shape the conditions in which people live.

8. HEA-08 — Should doctors educate their patients?

> Doctors should be responsible for educating their patients about how to improve their health. Do you agree with this?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely agree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Prevention versus Treatment · Technology and Health · Fast Food
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	3 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 39 · BP1 112 · BP2 117 · Conclusion 36 · Total 304

Introduction · 39 words

It is often argued that doctors should have the duty of teaching patients how to become healthier. I completely agree with this view because patients trust their doctors' advice and health education can prevent serious illness in the future.

Body Paragraph 1 · 112 words

Point The main reason why I agree with this idea is that patients trust advice from their doctors. Explain This is because doctors understand each patient's medical history and can explain how lifestyle affects their particular condition. Explain Some people search their symptoms online and either become unnecessarily worried or try to treat themselves; as a result, clear advice from a trained professional is extremely valuable. Example For example, a patient with diabetes is more likely to change their diet after a serious talk with their own doctor than after reading an online article, and this change can control the disease. Link Therefore, doctors are in the best position to teach people how to live more healthily.

Body Paragraph 2 · 117 words

Point Another important reason for my agreement is that health education from doctors can prevent serious illness. Explain When doctors are advising patients on how to improve their lifestyle, they can help them to act before a small problem becomes a dangerous one. Example For instance, a doctor who explains to a patient with high blood pressure how to reduce salt and walk daily may prevent a future heart attack, which also avoids expensive treatment. Response Although some people argue that doctors in busy hospitals have only a few minutes for each patient, even a short piece of personal advice can make a real difference. Link Consequently, prevention is an investment that makes treatment more affordable, and doctors should lead this work.

Conclusion · 36 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that teaching patients about healthy living should be part of every doctor's job. People take medical advice seriously, and early guidance can also stop minor conditions from developing into dangerous diseases.

9. HEA-09 — Why do fewer people walk?

Walking is known to be beneficial for health and yet fewer and fewer people are walking these days. What are the reasons for this? What can be done to tackle this problem?

Essay type	Cause and Solution
Position	Causes: unsafe city streets and technology that removes physical effort. Solutions: safe footpaths; bringing walking back into daily routines.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Exercise, Walking and the Sedentary Lifestyle · Technology and Health
Structure	Cause/Problem + Solution guide: 2 causes or problems + 2 solutions → BP1 (P E X P E L) → BP2, each solution fixing one point (N E X N E L) → Same ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	3 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 38 · BP1 111 · BP2 113 · Conclusion 32 · Total 294

Introduction · 38 words

Despite its well-known health benefits, walking is becoming less common in modern life. This is mainly because city streets are unsafe and technology has made it unnecessary, but safer footpaths and better daily habits can tackle this problem.

Body Paragraph 1 · 111 words

Point One of the main causes of this trend is that walking in large cities has become unpleasant and dangerous. Explain Heavy traffic, air pollution and broken footpaths make short journeys on foot stressful, so many people avoid them. Example For example, a parent who must walk beside fast buses on a broken footpath may take a rickshaw for a five-minute journey, and this soon becomes a habit. Point Another important cause is technology, which has removed much of the physical effort from daily life. Explain Lifts replace stairs, and online shopping means that people do not even need to walk to the shops. Link Consequently, walking has gradually disappeared from the daily routines of many people.

Body Paragraph 2 · 113 words

Solution The most effective solution is for governments to make streets safer for pedestrians. Explain When city planners build safe footpaths and separate them from traffic, walking becomes pleasant and practical rather than stressful. Example For instance, a parent who can reach the local market on a wide, well-lit footpath may no longer need a rickshaw, which adds exercise to their day at no cost. Solution In addition, employers and individuals can bring walking back into everyday routines. Explain Workplaces can encourage staff to use the stairs, while people can walk to nearby shops instead of ordering online, and these small changes quickly add up. Link Together, these measures would make walking a normal part of modern life again.

Conclusion · 32 words

In conclusion, people walk less because urban streets are hazardous and technology has reduced physical effort. Safer pedestrian routes and small changes to everyday habits would encourage more people to walk regularly.

10. FOO-01 — Are GM foods the answer to world hunger?

With a growing world population one of the most pressing issues is that of feeding such a large number of people. Some people think that GM foods offer a viable solution to this problem. To what extent do you agree or disagree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely agree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Fast Food, Processed Food and Modern Diets (food safety) · general knowledge (this topic is not covered in the Idea Bank)
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	0 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 42 · BP1 110 · BP2 106 · Conclusion 37 · Total 295

Introduction · 42 words

As the global population continues to rise, it is often argued that genetically modified crops are a practical way to feed everyone. I completely agree with this view because these crops produce larger harvests and they can also survive difficult weather conditions.

Body Paragraph 1 · 110 words

Point The main reason why I agree with this idea is that GM crops produce larger harvests. Explain This is because scientists can develop plants that grow faster and resist pests and diseases, so farmers lose less of their crop each year. Explain Higher yields also mean that less forest needs to be cleared for new farmland; as a result, more food can be grown without damaging the natural environment. Example For example, a small farmer who plants pest-resistant rice may harvest much more from the same piece of land, and this means that no nearby forest has to be cleared. Link Therefore, GM foods offer a realistic way to increase the world's food supply.

Body Paragraph 2 · 106 words

Point Another important reason for my agreement is that GM crops can survive difficult weather conditions. Explain When climate change brings drought, floods or salty soil, ordinary crops often fail, but some GM varieties can continue to grow in these conditions. Example For instance, farmers in coastal Bangladesh, where salt water is entering farmland, could grow salt-tolerant rice, which would protect their income and their food supply. Response Although some people argue that GM foods may have long-term effects on human health, careful testing can ensure that only safe products reach the market. Link Consequently, these crops can protect food production in the regions that are most at risk of hunger.

Conclusion · 37 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that genetically modified food is a workable answer to the challenge of feeding a growing world. Such crops give farmers bigger yields, and they also remain productive when the climate becomes harsh.

11. FOO-02 — Does education about fast food work?

Some people think that educating people about the problems of eating too much fast food has no effect and that other measures should be taken to tackle this issue. What is your opinion?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely agree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Fast Food, Processed Food and Modern Diets · Health Taxes and Laws · Obesity
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	3 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 45 · BP1 116 · BP2 108 · Conclusion 38 · Total 307

Introduction · 45 words

It is sometimes claimed that warning people about the dangers of too much fast food has no real effect and that different action is needed. I completely agree with this view because knowledge alone does not change eating habits and other measures work far better.

Body Paragraph 1 · 116 words

Point The main reason why I agree with this idea is that knowledge alone does not change eating habits. Explain This is because most people already know that burgers, fried chicken and soft drinks are unhealthy, yet they continue to eat them. Explain Fast food is quick and convenient, which is important for people who work long hours, study late or have long journeys to and from work; as a result, they choose it even when they understand the risks. Example For example, a tired office worker who has seen many health campaigns may still buy fried chicken on the way home, and this habit is unlikely to change after another campaign. Link Therefore, information campaigns alone cannot solve this problem.

Body Paragraph 2 · 108 words

Point Another important reason for my agreement is that other measures work far better. Explain When the price of unhealthy food rises, behaviour changes, because taxes on sugary drinks can encourage companies to reduce sugar and customers to choose healthier options. Example For instance, a student who finds that a soft drink now costs much more may choose water instead, which reduces their sugar intake every day. Response Although some people argue that schools can teach children basic cooking skills and the principles of a balanced diet, these lessons cannot compete with cheap food and constant advertising. Link Consequently, governments should rely on taxes, clear labels and advertising rules to tackle this problem.

Conclusion · 38 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that teaching the public about fast food is not enough, and stronger action is required. Awareness rarely alters what people eat, and price controls and advertising limits are also more likely to succeed.

12. FOO-03 — Buying only locally sourced food

People should only buy food sourced locally. What are the advantages and disadvantages of this?

Essay type	Advantages vs Disadvantages — Type 1 (discuss, no opinion)
Position	No opinion is asked for, so there is no opinion or plan sentence; both sides are discussed in balance.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Fast Food, Processed Food and Modern Diets (healthy eating) · general knowledge (this topic is not covered in the Idea Bank)
Structure	Adv/Disadv guide: Although-intro → BP1 advantages (7 sentences) → BP2 disadvantages (7 sentences) → While-conclusion
Reused from Idea Bank	0 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 36 · BP1 134 · BP2 133 · Conclusion 35 · Total 338

Introduction · 36 words

Some people argue that consumers should buy only food produced in their own area. Although this approach can limit people's diets and raise prices after poor harvests, it also supports local farmers and provides fresher food.

Body Paragraph 1 · 134 words

Topic There is little doubt that buying local food offers considerable advantages to farmers and shoppers. Point To begin with, the most significant benefit is that money spent on local produce stays in the community. Explain This is because families who buy rice, fish and vegetables from nearby producers pay farmers, which helps them earn a fair income. Example For example, a farmer who sells vegetables at a village market keeps most of the profit, and this lets him pay his children's school fees. Point In addition, local food is not only fresher but also better for the environment, because it travels shorter distances. Explain As a result of shorter journeys from farm to table, vegetables keep more vitamins, and lorries use less fuel, which reduces pollution. Summary Overall, eating locally builds stronger rural communities and a healthier, greener food system.

Body Paragraph 2 · 133 words

Topic On the other hand, it cannot be denied that buying only local food also has some drawbacks. Point Firstly, many families would have a less varied diet if they could not buy food from other regions. Explain Without imported products such as wheat, fruit and spices, meals become repetitive; as a result, people may lack some important nutrients. Example For instance, a family in a cold country that ate only local food would have little fresh fruit in winter, which could harm their health. Point Secondly, poor harvests can be a serious obstacle, as floods or droughts can destroy local crops in a single season. Explain If no food could be brought in, prices would rise sharply and, consequently, poor families might go hungry. Summary Overall, these dietary and supply problems could make a local-only diet unhealthy and unreliable.

Conclusion · 35 words

In conclusion, eating only food from nearby farms is a popular idea. While it may narrow people's diets and leave them exposed to poor harvests, it helps farmers earn more and gives families fresher food.

13. FOO-04 — Should convenience foods be banned?

The government should ban convenience foods to improve public health. Do you agree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Fast Food, Processed Food and Modern Diets · Health Taxes and Laws · Obesity
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	5 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 38 · BP1 108 · BP2 114 · Conclusion 41 · Total 301

Introduction · 38 words

It is sometimes claimed that governments should stop the sale of convenience foods in order to make people healthier. I completely disagree with this view because a ban would be unrealistic and it would also limit personal freedom.

Body Paragraph 1 · 108 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that a ban would be unrealistic and would cause new problems. Explain This is because banning fast food or convenience food would be very difficult to enforce, would cause many people to lose their jobs and might simply create illegal markets. Explain Millions of people earn their living from these products; as a result, a ban would take away the income of many families. Example For example, a factory worker who packs instant noodles could lose their job overnight, and this would harm their whole family without making anyone healthier. Link Therefore, this policy would create more problems than it would solve.

Body Paragraph 2 · 114 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that a ban would limit personal freedom. Explain When people decide what to eat, they make a personal choice, as adults should be free to decide what they eat and drink, even if their choices are not healthy. Example For instance, a busy parent who chooses a frozen meal on a difficult evening is making a personal decision, which does no harm if it happens only occasionally. Response Although some people argue that many fast foods and processed meals are high in fat, sugar and salt, most people can enjoy fast food occasionally without harm. Link Consequently, clear nutritional information and education would improve public health without taking away this choice.

Conclusion · 41 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that removing ready-made food from shops is not the right way to improve public health. Such a law could not work in practice, and it would also take away people's right to choose their own meals.

14. FOO-05 — Obesity: government or individuals?

Some people think that the increase in the number of obese people should be the responsibility of the government, while others think it should be the responsibility of individuals. Discuss both sides and give your opinion.

Reused from Idea Bank	3 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 38 · BP1 99 · BP2 104 · Conclusion 41 · Total 282

Introduction · 38 words

While some people argue that individuals should be responsible for the rise in obesity, others believe that this problem should be handled by the government. I completely support the latter view because obesity affects the whole of society.

Body Paragraph 1 · 99 words

Point On the one hand, people who blame individuals argue that obesity results from personal decisions. Explain Portion sizes have also grown, and many people eat more calories than their bodies need. Explain Many people also drive or take a rickshaw even for very short journeys; as a result, they burn very few calories. Example For example, a person who drinks two cans of soft drink every day and never walks to work is making choices that lead to weight gain, and no one forces them to do this. Link For this reason, many people believe that individuals are responsible for their own weight.

Body Paragraph 2 · 104 words

Point On the other hand, I firmly believe that the government should deal with this problem because treating obesity-related diseases costs public healthcare systems a great deal of money. Explain When unhealthy food is cheap and heavily advertised, many people buy it every day, and only governments have the power to change these prices. Example For instance, a sugar tax can push companies to make healthier drinks, which helps millions of customers to reduce their sugar intake. Response Although some people argue that adults choose what they eat, these choices are strongly influenced by price and advertising. Link Consequently, the government is in the best position to tackle obesity.

Conclusion · 41 words

In conclusion, people hold different views on whether governments or individuals should be responsible for the rise in obesity. While people choose their own meals, I firmly believe that governments should tackle this problem because its costs are carried by society.

15. FOO-06 — Producing more GM foods

With a growing population, many people believe that we should focus on producing more GM foods. What are the advantages and disadvantages of doing this?

Essay type	Advantages vs Disadvantages — Type 1 (discuss, no opinion)

Introduction · 39 words

Many people believe that more genetically modified (GM) food is needed to feed a growing population. Although GM crops may raise safety concerns and make farmers dependent on big companies, they can also increase harvests and reduce pesticide use.

Body Paragraph 1 · 128 words

Topic There is little doubt that GM technology offers considerable advantages to farmers and growing populations. Point To begin with, the most significant benefit is that GM crops can produce much larger harvests. Explain This is because scientists can design plants that resist insects and survive drought or salty soil, which reduces crop losses. Example For example, a farmer in a coastal area with salty soil could grow a salt-tolerant rice variety, and this would protect her family's income. Point In addition, GM crops not only increase the food supply but also need fewer chemical pesticides. Explain As a result of using fewer chemicals, farmers save money and rivers stay cleaner, which benefits both people and wildlife. Summary Overall, GM technology could make food production more productive, affordable and environmentally friendly, especially in developing countries.

Body Paragraph 2 · 135 words

Topic On the other hand, it cannot be denied that GM foods also have some drawbacks. Point Firstly, many consumers feel uneasy about eating food whose genes have been changed in a laboratory. Explain Without clear labels and simple information, they cannot judge the risks themselves; as a result, many refuse to buy GM products. Example For instance, a shopper who sees that a product contains GM corn may choose a more expensive natural brand, which raises her food costs. Point Secondly, seed control by a few large companies can be a serious obstacle, as farmers may have to buy new seeds every year. Explain If seed prices rise or a harvest fails, small farmers may fall into debt and, consequently, lose their land. Summary Overall, these trust and economic problems can make GM farming risky for consumers and small farmers alike.

Conclusion · 34 words

In conclusion, GM crops are often seen as a way to feed the world. While such crops may worry shoppers and leave small farmers in debt, they can produce bigger harvests with fewer chemicals.

16. FOO-07 — A tax on sugar

Putting a tax on sugar is a good way to reduce the number of people incurring health problems from eating too much sugary foods and drinks. Do you agree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely agree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Health Taxes and Laws: Sugar, Tobacco and Banning Unhealthy Food · Obesity
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	6 sentences (highlighted)

Introduction · 44 words

It is often argued that taxing sugar is an effective way to reduce the health problems caused by too many sweet foods and drinks. I completely agree with this view because higher prices discourage unhealthy habits and the money can also support healthier choices.

Body Paragraph 1 · 119 words

Point The main reason why I agree with this idea is that higher prices discourage unhealthy habits. Explain This is because, when the price of a product rises, people usually buy less of it, especially young people and those on low incomes. Explain A tax on sugary drinks can encourage people to choose water or milk instead; as a result, they consume less sugar, and it can push companies to reduce the amount of sugar in their products. Example For example, higher taxes on cigarettes have been followed by a fall in smoking in many countries, and there is good reason to expect a similar result with sugary drinks. Link Therefore, a sugar tax can reduce the number of people who develop diet-related diseases.

Body Paragraph 2 · 117 words

Point Another important reason for my agreement is that the money raised can support healthier choices. Explain When governments collect this tax, the money they raise can be used to make healthy food cheaper, for example by supporting fruit and vegetable markets, and to fund education campaigns. Example For instance, a poor family that pays a little more for soft drinks could also pay less for fresh vegetables, which would improve the whole family's diet. Response Although some people argue that such taxes fall most heavily on poor families, these families also suffer most from diet-related illness and gain most from cheaper healthy food. Link Consequently, a tax on unhealthy products can pay directly for cheaper healthy food and better health education.

Conclusion · 38 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that a tax on sugar is an effective way to reduce diet-related illness. Extra costs persuade consumers to buy less sugar, and the income can also make nutritious food cheaper for ordinary families.

17. FOO-08 — Why are so many children overweight?

An increasing number of children are overweight which could result in many problems when they grow older both in terms of their health and health care costs. Why do you think so many children are overweight? What could be done to solve this problem?

Word count	Intro 39 · BP1 116 · BP2 108 · Conclusion 35 · Total 298

Introduction · 39 words

More and more children are becoming overweight, which could harm their health when they grow older. This is mainly because they eat unhealthy food and rarely play outside, but healthier school meals and safe playgrounds can tackle this problem.

Body Paragraph 1 · 116 words

Point One of the main causes of this trend is that children eat too much unhealthy food. Explain Busy parents may also buy ready-made food because they have little time to cook, and children are surrounded by advertisements for snacks and soft drinks. Example For example, a child who plays football for an hour at school but drinks several cans of soft drink and eats fried snacks at home will still gain weight. Point Another important cause is that many children no longer play outside. Explain In some cities, there are few safe parks or playgrounds, so parents prefer to keep their children indoors, where they often play video games. Link Consequently, these children burn little energy, and many become overweight adults.

Body Paragraph 2 · 108 words

Solution The most effective solution is for schools to make healthy food the normal choice. Explain Schools can improve the food they provide by offering healthy lunches, selling fruit instead of sweets and removing sugary drinks from vending machines. Example For instance, a child who can only buy fruit and water during the school day may gradually lose the taste for soft drinks, which reduces the calories they consume. Solution In addition, parents and governments could give children more chances to be active. Explain When governments build playgrounds and parents limit screen time, children have a safe and enjoyable alternative to video games. Link Together, these measures would help children to develop healthy habits.

Conclusion · 35 words

In conclusion, many young people are overweight because of poor diets and too little outdoor activity. Better school food and more safe places to play would help them to stay healthy as they grow older.

18. FOO-09 — Will traditional cooking disappear unless fast food is banned?

Unless fast foods and ready-made meals are banned, traditional methods of cooking will soon be lost. To what extent do you agree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Fast Food, Processed Food and Modern Diets · Health Taxes and Laws
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	4 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 43 · BP1 102 · BP2 114 · Conclusion 40 · Total 299

Introduction · 43 words

It is sometimes claimed that traditional cooking will soon disappear if fast food and ready meals are not banned. I completely disagree with this view because most families still value home cooking and schools and parents can protect these skills without a ban.

Body Paragraph 1 · 102 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that most families still value home cooking. Explain This is because traditional dishes are closely connected with family life, culture and religion, so people do not give them up easily. Explain Most people can enjoy fast food occasionally without harm; as a result, a burger at the weekend does not mean the end of home cooking. Example For example, a Bangladeshi family that orders pizza on Friday will still prepare traditional dishes for Eid and other festivals, and these meals bring relatives together every year. Link Therefore, traditional cooking is far stronger than this view suggests.

Body Paragraph 2 · 114 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that schools and parents can protect cooking skills without a ban. Explain When young people learn to cook, traditional food stays alive, and schools can teach children basic cooking skills and the principles of a balanced diet. Example For instance, a school that teaches pupils to prepare a simple fish curry passes on a valuable skill, which costs little and can last a lifetime. Response Although some people argue that traditional cooking skills may not be passed on to the next generation, banning fast food completely would be unrealistic and would limit personal freedom. Link Consequently, education and family habits are the best ways to protect these dishes for the future.

Conclusion · 40 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that traditional methods of cooking can survive without any ban on fast food. Home-cooked meals remain an important part of family culture, and lessons at home and at school can also keep these skills alive.

19. FOO-10 — Fast food in modern life

With a fast pace of modern life more and more people are turning towards fast food for their main meals. Do you think the advantages outweigh the disadvantages?

Introduction · 47 words

As modern life speeds up, more people now depend on fast food for their main meals. Although fast food can save busy people time and money, it often damages their health and weakens family cooking traditions. In my opinion, the disadvantages of this trend outweigh the advantages.

Body Paragraph 1 · 134 words

Topic There is little doubt that fast food offers considerable advantages to busy people. Point To begin with, fast food is quick and convenient, which is important for people who work long hours. Explain This is because a hot meal can be ordered through a delivery app and arrive in minutes, so no time is spent shopping or cooking. Example For example, a worker who leaves the office late can buy dinner on the way home, which saves her time and energy. Point In addition, fast food is not only cheap but also available on almost every street corner in towns and cities. Explain As a result of these low prices, students and low-income workers can afford a filling meal, which reduces their daily expenses. Summary Overall, fast food makes everyday life more convenient and affordable for people with busy schedules.

Body Paragraph 2 · 135 words

Topic On the other hand, it cannot be denied that fast food also has some drawbacks. Point Firstly, many people experience health problems, because fast foods and processed meals are high in fat, sugar and salt. Explain Without enough vitamins and fibre, they often gain weight; as a result, their risk of diabetes and heart disease rises. Example For instance, a child who eats fried chicken every day may become overweight, which can harm his health for life. Point Secondly, the decline of home cooking can be a serious problem, as many busy families stop cooking and eating together. Explain If parents rarely cook, traditional cooking skills may not be passed on to the next generation and, consequently, local food culture may disappear. Summary Although some people can enjoy fast food in moderation, these health and family problems often cause lasting harm.

Conclusion · 42 words

In conclusion, relying on fast food has become a common modern habit. While takeaway meals can be quick and affordable, they frequently lead to illness and reduce the time families spend cooking together. Therefore, I believe that the drawbacks outweigh the benefits.

20. FOO-11 — Should everyone become vegetarian?

Everyone should adopt a vegetarian diet because eating meat can cause serious health problems. Do you agree or disagree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Fast Food, Processed Food and Modern Diets (balanced diet) · general knowledge (vegetarian diets are not covered in the Idea Bank)
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words

Introduction · 41 words

It is sometimes claimed that everybody should stop eating meat because it can lead to serious illness. I completely disagree with this view because meat provides important nutrients and people should be free to follow their own culture and food choices.

Body Paragraph 1 · 115 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that meat provides important nutrients. Explain This is because meat, fish and eggs contain protein, iron and vitamin B12, which are important for growing children and pregnant women. Explain In poor communities, it can be difficult to get these nutrients from plants alone; as a result, a diet without meat could actually make some people weaker. Example For example, a child in a low-income family who eats a small amount of fish or chicken each week receives nutrition that rice and vegetables may not provide, and this helps them to grow properly. Link Therefore, giving up meat completely could damage the health of many people instead of improving it.

Body Paragraph 2 · 116 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that people should be free to follow their own culture and food choices. Explain When people decide what to eat, they are making a personal decision, as adults should be free to decide what they eat and drink, and food is also a part of religion and tradition. Example For instance, sharing meat during Eid is an important tradition in Bangladesh, which brings together rich and poor families and strengthens community life. Response Although some people argue that red and processed meats can increase the risk of heart disease, this only shows that people should eat less of them. Link Consequently, moderation is a much better answer than asking everyone to become vegetarian.

Conclusion · 39 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that it is wrong to say that the whole population should give up meat. Animal foods supply valuable nutrition, and individuals also have the right to choose meals that reflect their beliefs and traditions.

21. FOO-12 — Preservatives in processed food

Many processed foods and ready-made meals contain preservatives and chemicals. What are the advantages to this? Do you think the advantages outweigh the disadvantages?

Essay type	Advantages vs Disadvantages — Type 2 (outweigh)
Position	The disadvantages outweigh the advantages, so the advantages go first in the Although and While sentences and the disadvantages go after the comma. BP1 also answers "What are the advantages?".
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Fast Food, Processed Food and Modern Diets
Structure	Adv/Disadv guide: Although-intro → BP1 advantages (7 sentences) → BP2 disadvantages (7 sentences) → While-conclusion
Reused from Idea Bank	4 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 45 · BP1 132 · BP2 135 · Conclusion 39 · Total 351

Introduction · 45 words

Today, many processed foods and ready-made meals contain chemicals that help them last longer. Although these preservatives can reduce food waste and keep food safe, they often cause allergic reactions and encourage unhealthy diets. In my opinion, the disadvantages of this practice outweigh the advantages.

Body Paragraph 1 · 132 words

Topic There is little doubt that preservatives offer considerable advantages to food producers and families. Point To begin with, preservatives allow food to be stored for weeks, which reduces food waste and makes it easier to keep food at home. Explain This is because milk and meat that would normally spoil within days can stay edible much longer. Example For example, a family that buys canned fish and packaged milk once a month can cook even when the market is closed. Point In addition, preservatives not only stop the growth of harmful bacteria but also allow food to travel long distances. Explain As a result of this protection, safe food can reach remote villages where fresh produce is scarce, which prevents shortages. Summary Overall, preservatives make the modern food supply cheaper, safer and more reliable for millions of families.

Body Paragraph 2 · 135 words

Topic On the other hand, it cannot be denied that preservatives also have some drawbacks. Point Firstly, some consumers experience allergic reactions when they eat foods containing certain chemical additives. Explain Without clear labels, they cannot easily avoid these substances; as a result, they may suffer rashes or breathing problems. Example For instance, a child with asthma who drinks a soda containing certain preservatives may have difficulty breathing, which frightens the family. Point Secondly, processed meals are a serious health risk, as they are often high in fat, sugar and salt, but low in vitamins, minerals and fibre. Explain If families eat such meals every day, they may gain weight and, consequently, face obesity, high blood pressure, type 2 diabetes and heart disease. Summary Although some additives are tested and permitted in small amounts, these health risks often matter more than convenience.

Conclusion · 39 words

In conclusion, most packaged foods now contain chemicals that extend their shelf life. While they can cut waste and keep food safe, they often trigger allergies and encourage unhealthy diets. Therefore, I believe that the drawbacks outweigh the benefits.

22. FOO-13 — The media's image of the "ideal" thin body

Over the last few decades, the media has promoted the image of young thin women as being ideal. What problems has this caused? What solutions can you suggest to this issue?

Essay type	Problem and Solution
Position	Problems: low self-esteem and eating disorders. Solutions: clear labels on edited images; removing harmful posts and teaching media literacy.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Media, Advertising and Body Image · Mental Health and Stress
Structure	Cause/Problem + Solution guide: 2 causes or problems + 2 solutions → BP1 (P E X P E L) → BP2, each solution fixing one point (N E X N E L) → Same ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	5 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 37 · BP1 119 · BP2 111 · Conclusion 30 · Total 297

Introduction · 37 words

For several decades, the media has presented young, thin women as the ideal image of beauty. This can lead to low self-esteem and dangerous eating disorders, but honest advertising and better online protection can reduce these effects.

Body Paragraph 1 · 119 words

Point The most serious problem caused by this image is the damage to young people's self-esteem. Explain Many of these images are digitally edited and do not reflect real people, so young people who constantly compare themselves with these images feel that their bodies are not good enough. Example For example, a teenage girl who compares herself with an edited photograph of a model may believe that she is unattractive, and this can damage her confidence. Point Another problem is the harm to physical health. Explain In serious cases, this can lead to eating disorders, such as starving oneself or extreme dieting, which are dangerous to both physical and mental health. Link Consequently, an image used to sell products can seriously damage young people's well-being.

Body Paragraph 2 · 111 words

Solution The most effective solution is for governments to make advertising more honest. Explain If advertisers are required to state when images have been digitally altered, young people can see that these bodies are not real. Example For instance, a teenage girl who sees a clear label on an edited photograph may compare herself with it less often, which can protect her confidence. Solution In addition, social media companies and schools could reduce the risk of eating disorders. Explain Companies should remove harmful posts that promote extreme dieting, while schools can teach media literacy, helping students understand how advertising works and why online images are often unrealistic. Link Together, these measures would encourage healthier ideas about beauty.

Conclusion · 30 words

In conclusion, the media's thin ideal damages both the confidence and the physical health of young people. Clear labels on edited pictures and better protection online would limit this harm.

23. SPO-04 — Parents or schools: who should ensure children exercise?

Ensuring that children have regular physical exercise should be the responsibility of parents and therefore schools should not waste valuable school time having sports lessons as part of the curriculum. To what extent do you agree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Children's Health, School Sport and Physical Education · Obesity
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	5 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 42 · BP1 115 · BP2 103 · Conclusion 41 · Total 301

Introduction · 42 words

It is sometimes claimed that exercise is a matter for parents alone, so sports lessons are a waste of valuable school time. I completely disagree with this view because many parents cannot provide regular exercise and school sport also improves children's learning.

Body Paragraph 1 · 115 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that many parents cannot provide regular exercise for their children. Explain This is because many parents work long hours, cannot afford sports clubs or live in areas without parks. Explain For children from poor families or crowded city areas, school may be the only place where they can play sport safely; as a result, if schools remove sport from the curriculum, many children will hardly exercise at all. Example For example, a child in a crowded part of Dhaka may have no safe place to play after school, and this child's only exercise may come from a weekly PE lesson. Link Therefore, schools must share this responsibility with parents.

Body Paragraph 2 · 103 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that sports lessons are not a waste of school time. Explain When children move during the school day, their studies also benefit, as physical activity can actually improve academic performance, because it helps children concentrate and reduces stress. Example For instance, a student who plays cricket at lunchtime often returns to class calmer and more focused, which helps them to understand difficult lessons. Response Although some people argue that parents should decide how children spend their free time, school programmes can reach every child, regardless of family background. Link Consequently, sports lessons deserve a regular place in the school curriculum.

Conclusion · 41 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that physical education is a valuable use of school time and not simply a duty for parents. Many families lack the time or money to organise exercise, and active pupils also perform better in the classroom.

24. SPO-06 — Should companies give employees exercise time?

Some people think that companies should provide employees with exercise time during the day. What is your opinion about this?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely agree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Exercise, Walking and the Sedentary Lifestyle · Mental Health and Stress
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	4 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 36 · BP1 120 · BP2 106 · Conclusion 36 · Total 298

Introduction · 36 words

It is often argued that employers should give their staff time to exercise during the working day. I completely agree with this view because this policy protects workers' health and it also makes companies more productive.

Body Paragraph 1 · 120 words

Point The main reason why I agree with this idea is that this policy protects workers' health. Explain This is because many jobs now involve sitting at a desk all day, and long working hours also leave people feeling too tired or too busy to exercise. Explain Physical activity helps people to maintain a healthy weight, strengthens the heart and lungs, and reduces the risk of diabetes, high blood pressure and some cancers; as a result, employees stay healthier for longer. Example For example, an office worker who walks during a daily break may lose weight and lower their blood pressure, and this habit can protect their health. Link Therefore, a short exercise break is a sensible way to protect people who sit all day.

Body Paragraph 2 · 106 words

Point Another important reason for my agreement is that exercise time also makes companies more productive. Explain When employees are healthy and relaxed, they concentrate better, make fewer mistakes and take fewer sick days, so the company loses less working time. Example For instance, a company that offers a thirty-minute walking break after lunch may find that staff feel more energetic in the afternoon, which improves the quality of their work. Response Although some people argue that exercise breaks waste paid working time, employers can provide exercise facilities, flexible breaks or "walking meetings" at very little cost. Link Consequently, exercise time is an investment for employers and not simply a cost.

Conclusion · 36 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that businesses should allow employees to be physically active during their office hours. Regular movement keeps staff fit and well, and healthier workers also produce much better results for their employers.

25. SPO-07 — Compulsory sport at university?

With an increasing overweight population some people think universities should make sport a compulsory module on all degree courses. To what extent do you agree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Children's Health, School Sport and Physical Education · Obesity · Exercise and the Sedentary Lifestyle
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	3 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 44 · BP1 113 · BP2 117 · Conclusion 40 · Total 314

Introduction · 44 words

Because more people are now overweight, it is sometimes claimed that universities should require every student to take a sports module. I completely disagree with this view because university students are adults who should make their own choices and compulsory sport adds extra pressure.

Body Paragraph 1 · 113 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that university students are adults who should make their own choices. Explain This is because adults should be free to decide what they eat and drink and how they spend their free time. Explain People rarely enjoy activities that they are forced to do; as a result, students who are made to exercise may stop as soon as they graduate. Example For example, a science student who hates team games may attend a compulsory football class only to get the credit, and this experience could make them dislike sport even more. Link Therefore, compulsion is unlikely to create the healthy habits that this policy aims to build.

Body Paragraph 2 · 117 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that compulsory sport would add extra pressure. Explain When students already have long hours of study, part-time jobs or family responsibilities, an additional module would leave them with less time to rest and prepare for exams. Example For instance, a student who works in a restaurant every evening to pay their fees may find it extremely difficult to attend weekly sports classes, which could lower their marks. Response Although some people argue that universities are another stage of life where young people often become less active, universities can certainly offer cheap and attractive sports facilities to encourage students to stay active. Link Consequently, encouragement is a far better solution than an extra compulsory course.

Conclusion · 40 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that sport should not be a required part of every university degree. Young adults have the right to decide how they stay fit, and an additional course would also increase the stress they already face.

26. GOV-01 — Lifestyle decisions: government or individuals?

Should governments make decisions about people's lifestyle, or should people make their own decisions?

Essay type	Discussion (both views + opinion)
Position	People should make their own lifestyle decisions.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Health Taxes and Laws · Obesity: Causes and Responsibility · Free Healthcare
Structure	Discuss Both Views guide: Both views + clean opinion → BP1 the other view (P E E X L) → BP2 my view (P E X R L) → Both themes + opinion in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	4 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 35 · BP1 91 · BP2 115 · Conclusion 37 · Total 278

Introduction · 35 words

While some people argue that governments should make decisions about how citizens live, others believe that people should make these choices themselves. I completely support the latter view because adults know their own needs best.

Body Paragraph 1 · 91 words

Point On the one hand, people who support government control argue that laws can also protect people who do not make the unhealthy choice. Explain Bans on smoking in restaurants, offices and public transport protect non-smokers from second-hand smoke. Explain Unhealthy habits can also be reduced through taxes; as a result, fewer people suffer from serious illness. Example For example, a smoker who faces a higher price for cigarettes may decide to stop, and this protects both their own health and their family's. Link For this reason, many people believe that governments should control lifestyle choices.

Body Paragraph 2 · 115 words

Point On the other hand, I firmly believe that people should make their own decisions because adults should be free to decide what they eat and drink, even if their choices are not healthy. Explain When a rule is made for a whole country, it cannot suit everyone, because each person has different needs, cultures and religious beliefs. Example For instance, a government cannot decide how many hours a night worker should sleep or which sport a patient with back pain should play, which shows that one rule does not fit all. Response Although some people argue that taxes and bans reduce illness, such laws limit personal freedom in private matters. Link Consequently, lifestyle decisions should be left to individuals.

Conclusion · 37 words

In conclusion, people hold different views on whether governments or citizens should control lifestyle decisions. While some laws can reduce illness, I firmly believe that adults should decide for themselves because they understand their own lives best.
