PEEL বনাম PEELR: সাধারণ body paragraph-এ PEEL যথেষ্ট। কিন্তু opinion বা discussion essay-তে যখন বিপরীত মতকে মেনে নিয়ে জবাব দিতে হয় ("Admittedly… However…"), তখন R (Response) যোগ করো — এতে লেখা আরও পরিণত ও যুক্তিপূর্ণ দেখায়, যা Band 7-এর জন্য গুরুত্বপূর্ণ।

Advantages & Disadvantages essay (4টি) — নতুন নির্দিষ্ট কাঠামো (IELTS_Advantages_Disadvantages_Essay_Guide.md অনুযায়ী):

- Introduction: প্রশ্নের paraphrase → Although + যে দিক তুমি সমর্থন করো না (2 point), + যে দিক তুমি সমর্থন করো (2 point), but

ছাড়া → মতামত (শুধু প্রশ্ন মতামত চাইলে)।

- Body 1 = সুবিধা, Body 2 = অসুবিধা — প্রতিটিতে ঠিক 7টি বাক্য: Topic → Point → Explain → Example → Point → Explain → Summary ।
- Body 1 linker: There is little doubt that... → To begin with → This is because → For example → In addition → As a result → Overall।
- Body 2 linker: On the other hand, it cannot be denied that... → Firstly → "; as a result," → For instance → Secondly → If... consequently → শেষ বাক্য: Type 1 হলে Overall, these...; সুবিধার পক্ষে হলে Although these [problems]..., most...; অসুবিধার পক্ষে হলে Although some [people]..., these [problems] often...।
- Conclusion: In conclusion + নতুন paraphrase → While + দুই দিক, Although বাক্যের একই ক্রমে → মতামত আবার বলো (শুধু প্রশ্ন মতামত চাইলে)।
- 🚫 প্রশ্ন মতামত না চাইলে (Type 1): Introduction ও Conclusion-এ মাত্র 2টি বাক্য। মতামত লিখবে না, আর "This essay will examine both the benefits and the drawbacks..." ধরনের plan sentence-ও লিখবে না — এটি মুখস্থ করা বাক্য মনে হয় এবং নতুন কোনো idea যোগ করে না। Introduction শেষ হবে Although বাক্যে, essay শেষ হবে While বাক্যে।
- ⭐ Emphasis rule: Although/While বাক্যে পাঠক সবসময় শেষের idea (comma-র পরের অংশ)-কে তোমার মত হিসেবে ধরে। তাই সুবিধার পক্ষে হলে আগে অসুবিধা, পরে সুবিধা; অসুবিধার পক্ষে হলে আগে সুবিধা, পরে অসুবিধা। Type 1-এ (মতামত নেই) সাধারণত আগে অসুবিধা, পরে সুবিধা।

- 🚫 কখনো আংশিক উত্তর নয়: একটিই স্পষ্ট মত। "both views are important", "it depends" লিখবে না।

- Introduction (2টি বাক্য): paraphrase → 2টি কারণ বা সমস্যা, but + 2টি সমাধান।
- Body 1 = 2টি কারণ বা সমস্যা: Point → Explain → Example → Point → Explain → Link ।
- Body 2 = 2টি সমাধান: Solution → Explain → Example → Solution → Explain → Link ।
- ⭐ Mirror rule: সমাধান 1 ঠিক করে কারণ বা সমস্যা 1, সমাধান 2 ঠিক করে কারণ বা সমস্যা 2। প্রতিটি সমাধানে থাকবে কে করবে, কী করবে, আর তাতে কীভাবে কাজ হবে (WHO + WHAT + HOW)।
- Conclusion (2টি বাক্য): কারণ বা সমস্যা নতুন শব্দে → সমাধান নতুন শব্দে + চূড়ান্ত ফল। নতুন কোনো idea নয়।
- শব্দসংখ্যা: সহজ হিসাব: 35 + 105 + 105 + 35 = 280।
- একই পরিবারের অন্য প্রশ্ন (guide Section 14): শুধু সমাধান, দুই পক্ষের সমাধান, বা শুধু সমস্যা চাইলে প্রতিটি body paragraph-এ একটিই idea: Point / Solution → Explain → Explain → Example → Link । মতামত নয়।

- ⭐ "other" ফাঁদ: প্রশ্নে other থাকলে প্রশ্নে দেওয়া idea বাদ দিয়ে নতুন idea লেখো।
- Introduction (2টি বাক্য): paraphrase → [উত্তর 1], and [উত্তর 2]। মতের কারণ Introduction-এ নয়, Opinion block-এর শুরুতে।
- Conclusion (2টি বাক্য): In conclusion, [উত্তর 1 নতুন শব্দে]. [উত্তর 2 নতুন শব্দে]. কোনো প্রশ্নই মত না চাইলে (List + List) কোথাও "I" নয়।

Model Answers

1. WRK-01 — Contacting staff at all times, even on holidays

Some employers want to be able to contact their staff at all times, even on holidays. Does this development have more advantages than disadvantages?

Essay type	Advantages vs Disadvantages — Type 3 (more advantages or disadvantages?)
Position	This development brings more drawbacks than benefits, so the advantages go first in the Although and While sentences and the disadvantages go after the comma.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Work–Life Balance and Long Working Hours · Pay, Promotion and Motivation
Structure	Adv/Disadv guide: Although-intro → BP1 advantages (7 sentences) → BP2 disadvantages (7 sentences) → While-conclusion
Reused from Idea Bank	3 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 48 · BP1 133 · BP2 135 · Conclusion 43 · Total 359

Introduction · 48 words

Some employers now expect to reach their staff at any time, even when employees are on holiday. Although this constant contact can help companies solve urgent problems and serve clients abroad, it often causes stress and lowers productivity. In my view, this development brings more drawbacks than benefits.

Body Paragraph 1 · 133 words

Topic There is little doubt that constant contact with staff offers considerable advantages to employers. Point To begin with, the most significant benefit is that managers can solve urgent problems quickly, without waiting for the next working day. Explain This is because with smartphones and email, employees can be contacted at any time, including evenings, weekends and holidays. Example For example, if a factory machine breaks down at night, an engineer who answers the phone can prevent a long and costly delay. Point In addition, constant contact not only speeds up decisions but also helps companies that serve clients in other time zones. Explain As a result of having someone always available, these firms can respond to customers overseas immediately, which protects important business relationships. Summary Overall, reaching staff at any time can save companies money and keep customers satisfied.

Body Paragraph 2 · 135 words

Topic On the other hand, it cannot be denied that constant contact also has some drawbacks. Point Firstly, many employees experience serious stress when they are never allowed to switch off from work. Explain Without real rest, they cannot recover; as a result, they may suffer poor sleep, high blood pressure and back pain. Example For instance, a manager who answers office calls until midnight may sleep badly and wake up with a headache, which makes the next working day much harder. Point Secondly, falling productivity can be a serious obstacle, as tired people make more mistakes and lose creativity. Explain If staff feel exhausted all year, they may do poorer work and, consequently, the company may lose the profits it wanted to protect. Summary Although some urgent calls are necessary, these health and productivity problems often harm workers and companies alike.

Conclusion · 43 words

In conclusion, expecting employees to answer messages at all hours is becoming common. While it can help firms handle emergencies and serve foreign clients, it frequently exhausts workers and reduces the quality of their work. Overall, I believe this is a negative development.

2. WRK-02 — Leaving farming to find work in cities

More and more people are moving away from an agricultural background to relocate to cities in order to look for work. What will be the consequences of this? What solutions can you offer?

Essay type	Consequence and Solution
Position	Consequences: overcrowded cities and villages that lose young workers. Solutions: affordable city housing and transport; rural development.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Migration for Work and Brain Drain (rural-to-urban migration)
Structure	Cause/Problem + Solution guide: 2 causes or problems + 2 solutions → BP1 (P E X P E L) → BP2, each solution fixing one point (N E X N E L) → Same ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	3 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 36 · BP1 104 · BP2 108 · Conclusion 32 · Total 280

Introduction · 36 words

A growing number of people are leaving farming behind and moving to cities to find work. This can lead to overcrowded cities and ageing villages, but affordable urban housing and rural development can reduce these effects.

Body Paragraph 1 · 104 words

Point The most serious consequence of this trend is that cities become overcrowded. Explain As more people arrive, housing becomes expensive, slums grow, and traffic and pollution increase. Example For example, a young farmer who moves to Dhaka to work in a garment factory may have to share a crowded room without clean water, and this can harm their health. Point Another important consequence is that rural areas lose their workers. Explain Villages may lose their young and energetic workers, leaving older people behind, so fewer people are left to work on the farms. Link Consequently, this movement places pressure on cities and may reduce food production in the countryside.

Body Paragraph 2 · 108 words

Solution The most effective solution is for governments to prepare cities for these new workers. Explain When they build affordable housing and improve public transport, migrants can live in decent conditions and travel to work more easily. Example For instance, a garment worker who can rent a cheap, clean flat near a bus route no longer needs to live in a slum, which protects their health. Solution In addition, governments could invest in rural areas. Explain Rural development, such as better roads, schools and small industries, can reduce pressure to move to cities, because young people can find good jobs near their homes. Link Together, these measures would protect cities and keep villages productive.

Conclusion · 32 words

In conclusion, moving from farms to cities leaves urban areas crowded and the countryside short of workers. Decent city housing and investment in villages would limit these effects and help both areas.

3. WRK-03 — University degree or experience and soft skills?

Completing university education is thought by some to be the best way to get a good job. On the other hand, other people think that getting experience and developing soft skills is more important. Discuss both sides and give your opinion.

Essay type	Discussion (both views + opinion)
Position	Experience and soft skills are more important than a degree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Education, Skills and Getting a Job · Young People and Part-Time Work · Ch. 01 Education Idea Bank (University Education and Employment)
Structure	Discuss Both Views guide: Both views + clean opinion → BP1 the other view (P E E X L) → BP2 my view (P E X R L) → Both themes + opinion in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	5 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 41 · BP1 98 · BP2 117 · Conclusion 42 · Total 298

Introduction · 41 words

While some people argue that a university degree is the best route to a good job, others believe that experience and soft skills are more important. I completely support the latter view because employers want people who can do the work.

Body Paragraph 1 · 98 words

Point On the one hand, people who value university education argue that many professions, such as medicine, engineering, law and teaching, require formal qualifications. Explain A degree shows employers that a candidate has knowledge in a particular field. Explain Graduates are often offered a wider range of jobs; as a result, they tend to earn higher salaries. Example For example, a graduate in engineering may be offered several well-paid posts that are closed to other applicants, and this can lead to a respected career. Link For this reason, many people believe that a degree is the best way to get a good job.

Body Paragraph 2 · 117 words

Point On the other hand, I firmly believe that experience and soft skills matter more because employers often complain that graduates have theoretical knowledge but lack practical experience and soft skills. Explain When the number of graduates has grown faster than the number of suitable jobs, a degree alone does not make a candidate stand out, and practical skills decide who is chosen. Example For instance, a student who has worked in a shop has learned to deal with customers, handle responsibility and work under pressure, which may impress employers more than good marks. Response Although some people argue that a degree opens many doors, it cannot guarantee a job. Link Consequently, experience and soft skills are the stronger route to employment.

Conclusion · 42 words

In conclusion, people hold different views on whether a degree or practical experience leads to a better job. While university qualifications are required in some professions, I firmly believe that experience and soft skills are more important because employers value capable workers.

4. WRK-04 — Are interviews the key to a good job?

First impressions are important. Some people think that doing well in interviews is the key to securing a good job. To what extent do you agree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Education, Skills and Getting a Job
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	4 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 43 · BP1 120 · BP2 114 · Conclusion 37 · Total 314

Introduction · 43 words

It is sometimes claimed that performing well at an interview is the key to getting a good job, because first impressions count. I completely disagree with this view because skills and experience matter more and employers now use other methods to judge candidates.

Body Paragraph 1 · 120 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that skills and experience matter more than a good interview. Explain This is because employers look for candidates who combine knowledge with experience, and these qualities are built over many years. Explain Some highly capable people are nervous in interviews and perform poorly, while others are skilled at presenting themselves but less effective in the actual job; as a result, a short conversation can easily give the wrong picture. Example For example, a quiet engineer with ten years of experience may solve real problems much better than a confident graduate who speaks well, and this ability is what the company really needs. Link Therefore, real ability is the true key to a good job.

Body Paragraph 2 · 114 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that employers now use other methods to judge candidates. Explain When a company hires new staff, it often looks beyond the interview, and many companies now use additional methods, such as practical tests, group tasks and trial periods, to assess candidates more fairly. Example For instance, a software company may give applicants a coding test, because a confident conversation cannot show whether someone can actually write good programs. Response Although some people argue that first impressions matter, a good first impression will not keep someone in a job if they cannot do the work. Link Consequently, the interview is only one small step in the process of securing a good position.

Conclusion · 37 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that success in an interview is not the key to finding a good job. Practical ability and work experience carry more weight, and modern employers also test candidates in several other ways.

5. WRK-05 — Is job satisfaction a luxury?

Finding job satisfaction is considered to be a luxury in many developing countries. Why do you think that is? Do you think job satisfaction is important?

Essay type	Double Question — List + Opinion (reasons + opinion)
Position	Family income comes first and good jobs are scarce; job satisfaction is still important.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Job Satisfaction versus High Salary
Structure	Double Question guide (List + Opinion): Answer 1 + answer 2 → BP1 = Q1, List block (P E X P E L) → BP2 = Q2, Opinion block (P E X R L) → Both answers in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	5 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 38 · BP1 119 · BP2 107 · Conclusion 36 · Total 300

Introduction · 38 words

In many developing countries, job satisfaction is seen as a luxury that few workers can afford. This is mainly because families need a steady income and good jobs are scarce, and I firmly believe that it still matters.

Body Paragraph 1 · 119 words

Point One of the main reasons for this is that workers must put their family's income first. Explain In developing countries, where there is often little social security, a well-paid job may be the only protection against illness, unemployment or old age. Example For example, for a young person who must support parents and younger siblings, choosing a low-paid job simply because it is interesting may not be a realistic option. Point Another important reason is that there are far more job seekers than good jobs. Explain When hundreds of graduates apply for one position, people accept any work they can find; as a result, few can choose a job they enjoy. Link Consequently, job satisfaction is sometimes described as a luxury in poorer countries.

Body Paragraph 2 · 107 words

Point As for whether job satisfaction is important, I firmly believe that it is because people spend a large part of their lives at work. Explain If they find their work boring, meaningless or stressful, they may feel unhappy every day, regardless of how much they earn. Example For instance, a bank clerk who hates his job may come home exhausted and irritable every evening, which can harm both his health and his family life. Response Although some people argue that money matters more in poorer countries, workers who enjoy their jobs are usually more motivated, more creative and more loyal. Link Therefore, job satisfaction is important even where incomes are low.

Conclusion · 36 words

In conclusion, many people in developing nations cannot put enjoyment first because they must support their families and jobs are limited. I firmly believe that job satisfaction still matters because it protects workers' health and happiness.

6. WRK-06 — Balancing work with the rest of life

Many people find it hard to balance their work with other parts of their lives. What are the reasons for this? How can this problem be overcome?

Essay type	Cause and Solution
Position	Causes: long working hours and constant contact through technology. Solutions: flexible working hours; clear limits on work messages.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Work–Life Balance and Long Working Hours · Working from Home and Remote Work
Structure	Cause/Problem + Solution guide: 2 causes or problems + 2 solutions → BP1 (P E X P E L) → BP2, each solution fixing one point (N E X N E L) → Same ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	2 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 40 · BP1 114 · BP2 106 · Conclusion 33 · Total 293

Introduction · 40 words

Nowadays, many people struggle to find time for family, health and leisure alongside their jobs. This is mainly because of long working hours and constant online contact, but flexible jobs and clear limits on work messages can tackle this problem.

Body Paragraph 1 · 114 words

Point One of the main causes of this problem is the long working hours of many modern jobs. Explain In competitive economies, many employees work long hours because they fear losing their jobs or want to gain promotion. Example For example, a bank employee who hopes for promotion may stay at the office until late every evening, and this leaves little time for their children. Point Another important cause is technology, which allows employers to contact their staff at any time by phone and email. Explain When workers receive messages late at night or on holiday, they cannot fully relax, and their stress increases. Link Consequently, work now fills much of the time once kept for other parts of life.

Body Paragraph 2 · 106 words

Solution The most effective solution is for employers to offer flexible working hours. Explain When staff can choose their hours or work from home on some days, they still have time for their families. Example For instance, a bank employee who starts work early and leaves at four o'clock can collect their children from school, which strengthens family life. Solution In addition, managers and individuals could set clear limits on work messages. Explain Managers should not contact employees after office hours except in genuine emergencies, and individuals can switch off work notifications in the evening. Link Together, these measures would give people the time and energy to enjoy their lives outside work.

Conclusion · 33 words

In conclusion, many people find this balance difficult because jobs take up long hours and follow them home through technology. Flexible schedules and firm limits on after-work messages would help them to rest.

7. WRK-07 — Employing older people

More companies should employ older people. What are the advantages and disadvantages for a company of doing this?

Essay type	Advantages vs Disadvantages — Type 1 (discuss, no opinion; for a company)
Position	No opinion is asked for, so there is no opinion or plan sentence; both sides are discussed in balance.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Older Workers and Retirement
Structure	Adv/Disadv guide: Although-intro → BP1 advantages (7 sentences) → BP2 disadvantages (7 sentences) → While-conclusion
Reused from Idea Bank	7 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 35 · BP1 135 · BP2 133 · Conclusion 35 · Total 338

Introduction · 35 words

It has been suggested that more companies should hire older people. Although older staff may cost more and need extra training in new technology, they also bring valuable experience and great loyalty to a business.

Body Paragraph 1 · 135 words

Topic There is little doubt that employing older workers offers considerable advantages to companies. Point To begin with, the most significant benefit is that older employees usually have years of experience and knowledge that cannot be learned quickly from books. Explain This is because they have dealt with many different situations, so they can make sound decisions under pressure. Example For example, an experienced bank manager who has handled many difficult clients can calm an angry customer quickly, and this protects the bank's reputation. Point In addition, older workers not only stay longer in one job but also act as mentors, passing on their knowledge to younger colleagues. Explain As a result of this loyalty, firms spend less on recruiting new staff, which reduces their costs. Summary Overall, teams that mix young and older workers often combine new ideas with practical wisdom.

Body Paragraph 2 · 133 words

Topic On the other hand, it cannot be denied that hiring older people also has some drawbacks. Point Firstly, many companies face higher wage costs, as older workers may expect higher salaries because of their experience. Explain Some may also have health problems that lead to more sick days; as a result, the company pays extra for replacement staff. Example For instance, a small shop whose senior manager is often ill may have to pay a temporary worker as well, which reduces its profits. Point Secondly, new software can be a serious obstacle, as some older workers may find it harder to learn new technology. Explain If they cannot use modern systems confidently, they may work more slowly and, consequently, need costly training. Summary Overall, these financial and technical issues can make older staff a costly choice for some businesses.

Conclusion · 35 words

In conclusion, hiring workers in their fifties and sixties is a growing trend. While they may demand higher pay and struggle with new technology, they offer companies deep experience, loyalty and guidance for younger staff.

8. WRK-08 — Should essential workers earn more than celebrities?

Doctors, nurses and teachers make a great contribution to society and should be paid more than entertainment and sports celebrities. Do you agree or disagree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely agree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Pay, Promotion and Motivation · Job Satisfaction versus High Salary · Migration for Work and Brain Drain
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	2 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 44 · BP1 104 · BP2 105 · Conclusion 40 · Total 293

Introduction · 44 words

It is often argued that doctors, nurses and teachers make a greater contribution to society, so they should earn more than film and sports stars. I completely agree with this view because their work is essential to society and low pay causes serious shortages.

Body Paragraph 1 · 104 words

Point The main reason why I agree with this idea is that the work of doctors, nurses and teachers is essential to society. Explain This is because doctors and nurses save lives every day, while teachers prepare the next generation of workers and citizens. Explain Without good teachers, there would be no future doctors, engineers or scientists; as a result, the whole of society depends on their work. Example For example, a village teacher who prepares a poor child for medical college may give the country a future doctor, and this shows how much every community depends on such work. Link Therefore, essential workers deserve better pay and recognition.

Body Paragraph 2 · 105 words

Point Another important reason for my agreement is that low pay causes serious shortages. Explain When salaries remain low, talented young people avoid these careers, and when highly educated professionals move abroad permanently, their home countries suffer from brain drain. Example For instance, many Bangladeshi doctors and nurses move to the UK or the Middle East for better pay and training, which leaves local hospitals with too few staff. Response Although some people argue that celebrity incomes are set by the market, governments can still raise the salaries of the professionals they employ. Link Consequently, paying these workers more would benefit every citizen who needs a hospital or a school.

Conclusion · 40 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that medical staff and teachers should receive higher salaries than entertainers and athletes. Their daily work keeps society healthy and educated, and better pay would also persuade more talented people to stay in these professions.

9. WRK-09 — Part-time jobs for children

Many children are encouraged by their parents to get a part-time job in their free time. What are the advantages and disadvantages to children of doing so?

Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Young People and Part-Time Work

Reused from Idea Bank	5 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 36 · BP1 133 · BP2 133 · Conclusion 33 · Total 335

Introduction · 36 words

These days, many parents urge their children to find part-time work outside school hours. Although such work can harm their studies and expose them to unfair treatment, it also teaches responsibility and the value of money.

Body Paragraph 1 · 133 words

Topic There is little doubt that part-time work offers considerable advantages to young people. Point To begin with, the most significant benefit is that work teaches responsibility and discipline. Explain This is because young workers must arrive on time, follow instructions, serve customers politely and complete tasks properly. Example For example, a teenager who works in a café at weekends soon learns to be punctual and polite, and this helps him later at work. Point In addition, a part-time job not only gives young people their own income but also helps them understand the value of money. Explain As a result of working hard for their wages, teenagers are more likely to spend carefully and save, which prepares them for adult life. Summary Overall, part-time work helps children develop the habits and financial skills they will need in the future.

Body Paragraph 2 · 133 words

Topic On the other hand, it cannot be denied that part-time jobs also have some drawbacks. Point Firstly, many students experience falling grades when work takes time and energy away from studying. Explain Without enough rest after a long shift, they often feel exhausted; as a result, they cannot concentrate in class or complete their homework. Example For instance, a student who delivers food until midnight before an exam may perform poorly, which can affect his chances of entering university. Point Secondly, unfair treatment is a serious risk, as some employers pay very low wages, ask young people to work long or late hours. Explain If young workers do not understand their rights, they may accept these conditions and, consequently, risk their health and safety. Summary Overall, these academic and safety risks can make part-time work harmful for some children.

Conclusion · 33 words

In conclusion, many teenagers now combine school with paid work. While a job may lower their grades and leave them open to exploitation, it builds discipline and teaches them to manage money wisely.

10. WRK-10 — Why do rural workers move to cities?

In many developing countries, there is an increasing movement of workers from rural areas into the cities. Why do you think this happens? What problems can this cause?

Essay type	Double Question — List + List (reasons + problems)
Position	No opinion is asked for. Low farm incomes and more city jobs are the reasons; overcrowded cities and ageing villages are the problems. Same essay as Model Essay C in the Double Question guide.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Migration for Work and Brain Drain (rural-to-urban migration)
Structure	Double Question guide (List + List): Answer 1 + answer 2 → BP1 = Q1, List block (P E X P E L) → BP2 = Q2, List block (P E X P E L) → Both answers in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	1 sentence (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 37 · BP1 115 · BP2 103 · Conclusion 31 · Total 286

Introduction · 37 words

A growing number of workers in developing nations are leaving villages for urban areas. This is mainly because farming pays poorly and cities offer more jobs, and this movement can lead to overcrowded cities and ageing villages.

Body Paragraph 1 · 115 words

Point One of the main reasons for this movement is that farming provides low and uncertain incomes. Explain Rural areas offer few other jobs, so a poor harvest can leave a whole family without enough money. Example For example, a young farmer who earns very little may move to Dhaka to work in a garment factory, and a regular wage can help the family escape poverty. Point Another important reason is that cities offer far more jobs in offices, shops and services. Explain They also have better schools and hospitals; as a result, parents may believe that their children will have a brighter future there. Link Consequently, many rural families see the city as the best way to improve their lives.

Body Paragraph 2 · 103 words

Point The most serious problem caused by this trend is that cities become overcrowded. Explain Housing becomes expensive as more people arrive, so many newcomers have no choice but to live in slums. Example For instance, a garment worker who cannot afford a flat may share one small room in a slum, which often lacks clean water and proper sanitation. Point Another problem is that villages lose their young and energetic workers, which leaves older people behind. Explain Farms may then have too few workers, and elderly parents may have nobody nearby to care for them. Link As a result, this movement puts pressure on both cities and villages.

Conclusion · 31 words

In conclusion, rural workers move because agriculture pays little and urban areas provide more opportunities. However, this movement puts heavy pressure on city housing and deprives villages of their younger workers.

11. WRK-11 — Why do good teachers avoid rural areas?

In some developing countries, it is difficult to get good teachers to work in rural areas, which can have a negative impact on the education of children in those rural communities. Why do you think good teachers do not want to work in rural areas in developing countries? What could be done to solve this problem?

Essay type	Cause and Solution
Position	Causes: better pay and conditions in cities, and isolation in villages. Solutions: financial incentives; training local people as teachers.

Word count	Intro 39 · BP1 115 · BP2 112 · Conclusion 33 · Total 299

Introduction · 39 words

In some developing countries, rural schools struggle to attract good teachers, and this harms children's education. This is mainly because of better conditions in cities and isolation in villages, but financial incentives and local training can tackle this problem.

Body Paragraph 1 · 115 words

Point One of the main causes of this problem is that cities offer teachers a much better life. Explain Good teachers often prefer to work in cities, where salaries are higher, living conditions are better and their own children can attend good schools. Example For example, a young teacher from Dhaka who is offered a low salary on a remote river island may choose a city school, and this leaves the village without a qualified teacher. Point Another important cause is that teachers in remote areas often feel isolated. Explain They are far from their families and have fewer chances for training and promotion. Link Consequently, village schools are left with too few teachers, or with teachers who have little training.

Body Paragraph 2 · 112 words

Solution The most effective solution is for governments to make rural posts more attractive. Explain Governments can offer incentives to teachers who work in remote areas, such as higher salaries, free housing and faster promotion. Example For instance, a young teacher who receives free housing and a higher salary on a river island may accept the post, which gives village children a qualified teacher. Solution In addition, governments could train young people from rural areas as teachers. Explain Since these teachers already have family and friends in the village, they are less likely to feel isolated and more likely to stay in their home communities. Link Together, these measures would narrow the gap between city and village schools.

Conclusion · 33 words

In conclusion, good teachers avoid the countryside because urban jobs offer better conditions and village life can feel lonely. Better rewards and training local people would give rural children the education they deserve.

12. WRK-12 — Does a good degree guarantee a good job?

Having a good university degree guarantees people a good job. To what extent do you agree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Education, Skills and Getting a Job · Ch. 01 Education Idea Bank: University Education and Employment
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	4 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 39 · BP1 116 · BP2 118 · Conclusion 36 · Total 309

Introduction · 39 words

It is sometimes claimed that a good university qualification guarantees a well-paid and satisfying career. I completely disagree with this view because the job market is crowded with graduates and employers also look for practical experience and soft skills.

Body Paragraph 1 · 116 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that a degree is not enough in a crowded job market. Explain This is because, in many countries, the number of graduates has grown faster than the number of graduate jobs. Explain Many young people with degrees are unemployed or work in jobs that do not match their qualifications; as a result, they may feel that their long years of study have been wasted. Example For example, some business graduates in Bangladesh spend years applying for jobs or work as delivery riders while they wait for a suitable position, and this shows that a certificate alone is not enough. Link Therefore, a degree is no longer a guarantee of employment.

Body Paragraph 2 · 118 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that employers also look for practical experience and soft skills. Explain When companies compare candidates, they look beyond academic results, because employers frequently complain that graduates have theoretical knowledge but lack practical experience and soft skills, such as communication, teamwork, problem-solving and time management. Example For instance, a graduate with excellent marks who cannot work in a team may lose a job to a candidate with useful internship experience, which shows what employers really value. Response Although some people argue that many professions require a degree, having the qualification only allows a person to apply for such jobs. Link Consequently, a degree opens a door, and graduates must bring other abilities to walk through it.

Conclusion · 36 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that an excellent degree does not promise a good career. Too many qualified people are competing for too few positions, and recruiters also expect real work experience and strong personal skills.

13. WRK-13 — Working online from home

The number of people working online from home has grown in some countries. What advantages and disadvantages can come of this trend?

Essay type	Advantages vs Disadvantages — Type 1 (discuss, no opinion)
Position	No opinion is asked for, so there is no opinion or plan sentence; both sides are discussed in balance. Same ideas as the Bangla essay in Part 6.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Working from Home and Remote Work · Work–Life Balance and Long Working Hours
Structure	Adv/Disadv guide: Although-intro → BP1 advantages (7 sentences) → BP2 disadvantages (7 sentences) → While-conclusion
Reused from Idea Bank	5 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 35 · BP1 134 · BP2 134 · Conclusion 34 · Total 337

Introduction · 35 words

Working online from home has become increasingly common in many countries. Although this trend can cause loneliness and blur the line between work and home, it also saves commuting time and gives workers more flexibility.

Body Paragraph 1 · 134 words

Topic There is little doubt that working from home offers considerable advantages to employees and employers. Point To begin with, the most significant benefit is that working from home saves commuting time and money. Explain This is because in large cities with heavy traffic, workers may save several hours a day, which they can spend resting. Example For example, a Dhaka office worker who once spent three hours a day in traffic can now rest instead, and she feels far less tired. Point In addition, remote work not only offers staff flexibility but also helps companies reduce office costs. Explain As a result of this flexibility, parents can take their children to school and still finish their work, which reduces stress at home. Summary Overall, home working gives people more control over their time and saves money for workers and businesses.

Body Paragraph 2 · 134 words

Topic On the other hand, it cannot be denied that working from home also has some drawbacks. Point Firstly, many people feel lonely and isolated because they miss daily contact with colleagues. Explain Without face-to-face conversations, teamwork becomes slower; as a result, young employees have fewer chances to learn from experienced colleagues. Example For instance, a new graduate working alone at home may not get quick advice from senior colleagues, which slows his progress. Point Secondly, the loss of a clear working day can be a serious obstacle, as the boundary between work and home life can disappear. Explain If a parent with young children works in a noisy home without a quiet room, they may keep working late and, consequently, feel exhausted. Summary Overall, these social and practical problems can make remote work stressful and less productive for some employees.

Conclusion · 34 words

In conclusion, remote work is now a normal part of working life. While home workers may feel cut off and find it hard to switch off, they avoid long journeys and enjoy more freedom.

14. WRK-14 — Why do skilled professionals move abroad?

Some people with a good education and experience in their field decide to move abroad to work. Why do you think that is? What problems does this cause?

Reused from Idea Bank	3 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 35 · BP1 111 · BP2 105 · Conclusion 31 · Total 282

Introduction · 35 words

Many well-educated and experienced professionals choose to leave their country to work abroad. This is mainly because foreign jobs pay more and offer better conditions, and this can lead to brain drain and separated families.

Body Paragraph 1 · 111 words

Point One of the main reasons for this is that skilled workers can earn far higher salaries abroad. Explain Workers can earn much higher wages abroad and send money home to their families. Example For example, a Bangladeshi doctor who moves to the UK may earn several times more than at home, and this money can give the whole family a more comfortable life. Point Another important reason is the better working conditions in richer countries. Explain Professionals at home often face heavy workloads, slow promotion and limited research funding; as a result, modern hospitals and laboratories abroad seem far more attractive. Link Consequently, many talented people see a career overseas as the best way to progress.

Body Paragraph 2 · 105 words

Point The most serious problem caused by this trend is brain drain. Explain Doctors, nurses, engineers and scientists are often trained at great public expense, and when they leave, their skills are lost to their own country. Example For instance, when many doctors leave, rural hospitals face a shortage of staff, and patients must wait much longer for treatment. Point Another problem is that families are separated for many years. Explain Living far from their families for many years can cause loneliness and family problems, and children may grow up seeing a parent only once a year. Link Consequently, both the home country and the migrants' families pay a heavy price.

Conclusion · 31 words

In conclusion, skilled professionals move overseas mainly for higher pay and better working conditions. However, this weakens public services at home, such as hospitals, and keeps many families apart for years.

15. WRK-15 — The same salary for all workers?

Paying all workers the same salary in a company promotes harmony and respect amongst colleagues. To what extent do you agree or disagree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Pay, Promotion and Motivation · Job Security versus Career Change
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	3 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 41 · BP1 102 · BP2 115 · Conclusion 36 · Total 294

Introduction · 41 words

It is sometimes claimed that giving every employee in a company the same salary creates harmony and respect at work. I completely disagree with this view because equal pay reduces motivation and it is also unfair to skilled and experienced staff.

Body Paragraph 1 · 102 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that equal pay reduces motivation. Explain This is because hard-working and highly skilled employees would receive no extra reward for their effort.

Explain People usually work harder when they can see a clear reward; as a result, a company without one may see its performance fall. Example For example, if a senior engineer earned the same as a new trainee, the engineer might stop working hard, and this attitude could soon spread to other members of the team. Link Therefore, the same salary for everyone would damage the company's performance and the attitude of its staff.

Body Paragraph 2 · 115 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that equal pay is unfair to skilled and experienced staff. Explain When a manager who carries heavy responsibilities earns the same as a junior assistant, that manager may feel angry and undervalued, which creates resentment rather than harmony. Example For instance, an experienced accountant who sees a beginner receive the same salary may move to a competitor, which means that the company loses its best worker. Response Although some people argue that paying all workers the same salary would promote harmony among colleagues, true respect comes from fair treatment and not from identical pay. Link Consequently, pay should reflect skills, responsibility and performance, as long as the system is transparent and fair.

Conclusion · 36 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that paying identical wages to all staff will not create a respectful workplace. It removes the reason to work hard, and it also ignores the differences in people's abilities and responsibilities.

16. WRK-16 — Why are people so driven to get promotion?

Getting promotion is one of the biggest drives for people to apply themselves and work hard in the modern workplace. Why do you think people are so driven to get promotion? What other factors influence people to work hard?

Essay type	Double Question — List + List (reasons + other factors)
Position	No opinion is asked for. Promotion brings money and status; interesting work and job security also make people work hard.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Pay, Promotion and Motivation · Job Satisfaction versus High Salary (planned in Part 2F)
Structure	Double Question guide (List + List): Answer 1 + answer 2 → BP1 = Q1, List block (P E X P E L) → BP2 = Q2, List block (P E X P E L) → Both answers in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	3 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 32 · BP1 116 · BP2 100 · Conclusion 34 · Total 282

Introduction · 32 words

Many employees work hard mainly because they hope to be promoted. This is mainly because promotion brings a higher salary and social status, and interesting work and job security also motivate people.

Body Paragraph 1 · 116 words

Point One of the main reasons for this is money. Explain A promotion usually brings a higher salary, which allows people to support their families and improve their standard of living. Example For example, a junior officer who becomes a manager may finally afford a bigger flat and a better school for his children, and this makes the extra effort worthwhile. Point Another important reason is the status that a higher position brings. Explain In many societies, a person's job title strongly affects how they are seen by family, friends and the community; as a result, a new title makes employees feel proud and respected. Link Consequently, the desire to be promoted encourages many employees to work hard and develop their skills.

Body Paragraph 2 · 100 words

Point One important factor besides promotion is interesting work. Explain When people enjoy what they do and feel that it helps others, they are willing to work long hours without any extra reward. Example For instance, a nurse who cares deeply about her patients may stay late to comfort a frightened child, even though she has no hope of promotion. Point Another important factor is job security. Explain When unemployment is high, people fear losing their jobs; as a result, they work harder to show that they are valuable to their employer. Link Consequently, promotion is only one of several forces that make people work hard.

Conclusion · 34 words

In conclusion, people chase promotion because it raises their income and their standing in society. However, enjoyable work and the fear of losing a job also push many employees to make a great effort.

17. WRK-17 — Should bringing in foreign workers be stopped?

Bringing in foreign workers to fill positions that domestic workers are unwilling to do can cause problems in the local community and should therefore be stopped. To what extent do you agree with this?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Migration for Work and Brain Drain
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	2 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 45 · BP1 118 · BP2 106 · Conclusion 37 · Total 306

Introduction · 45 words

It is sometimes claimed that hiring foreign workers for jobs that local people refuse to do creates problems and should be stopped. I completely disagree with this view because these workers fill important gaps in the labour market and migration also benefits their home countries.

Body Paragraph 1 · 118 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that foreign workers fill important gaps in the labour market. Explain This is because many local people do not want physically demanding jobs, such as construction, cleaning and caring for elderly people. Explain Migrant workers fill important gaps in the labour market, support the economy and often do essential but difficult work; as a result, hospitals, building sites and many other services can continue to operate. Example For example, many Bangladeshi workers in the Middle East work in construction, a job that few local people want to do, and this work helps to build roads and homes for the local community. Link Therefore, stopping this practice would leave many necessary jobs unfilled.

Body Paragraph 2 · 106 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that migration also benefits the workers' home countries. Explain When people work overseas, their families benefit directly, because workers can earn much higher wages abroad and send money home to their families. Example For instance, a construction worker in Dubai who sends money to their village in Bangladesh can pay for their children's education, which gives the next generation a better future. Response Although some people argue that foreign workers put pressure on housing and local services, good planning, fair wages and language classes can reduce these problems. Link Consequently, governments should manage this system carefully instead of bringing it to an end.

Conclusion · 37 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that countries should continue to recruit overseas workers for jobs that local people do not want. These employees keep important services running, and their earnings also improve life for families back home.

18. WRK-18 — Respect or better facilities at work?

Some people think that employers should ensure a supportive and pleasant work environment where each employee is respected and valued equally, while others think employers should focus instead on providing better facilities and equipment. What is your opinion?

Introduction · 37 words

While some people argue that employers should concentrate on better facilities and equipment, others believe that a supportive workplace where everyone is respected matters more. I completely support the latter view because respected employees are more motivated.

Body Paragraph 1 · 94 words

Point On the one hand, people who support investment in equipment argue that modern tools help employees to work faster and more safely. Explain AI tools can save workers time on routine paperwork, allowing them to focus on more creative and meaningful tasks. Explain Many hours are wasted when machines are slow or unreliable; as a result, productivity falls. Example For example, a designer with a slow computer may lose hours every week waiting for files to open, and this delays the whole team. Link For this reason, many people believe that employers should focus on facilities and equipment.

Body Paragraph 2 · 114 words

Point On the other hand, I firmly believe that a supportive environment matters more because employees who feel respected, listened to and valued are more likely to give their best effort. Explain When managers treat staff fairly and value their work, people enjoy coming to the office, and they are less likely to leave. Example For instance, a supportive manager who praises good work and helps staff to improve can motivate people more than a small pay rise. Response Although some people argue that modern equipment saves time, a workplace with constant criticism, unfair treatment or bullying can destroy motivation, however good the tools may be. Link Consequently, respect is the most valuable thing that an employer can provide.

Conclusion · 41 words

In conclusion, people hold different views on whether employers should focus on respect at work or on better equipment. While modern facilities help people to work efficiently, I firmly believe that a respectful workplace is more important because it increases motivation.

19. WRK-19 — Should income decide which job you choose?

Introduction · 39 words

Some people believe that a job should be chosen mainly for its salary, because a good income protects the family. I firmly believe that money is an important factor, and job satisfaction and career growth should also be considered.

Body Paragraph 1 · 104 words

Point I firmly believe that money is an important factor when choosing a job because it gives a family security. Explain A good salary allows people to provide for their families, pay for their children's education, buy or rent a decent home and save for the future. Example For example, for a young person who must support parents and younger siblings, choosing a low-paid job simply because it is interesting may not be a realistic option. Response Although some people argue that money cannot buy happiness, a lack of money brings constant worry about rent, bills and school fees. Link Therefore, income deserves serious attention in any career decision.

Body Paragraph 2 · 102 words

Point One important factor that should also be considered is job satisfaction. Explain If people find their work boring, meaningless or stressful, they may feel unhappy every day, regardless of how much they earn. Example For instance, a well-paid accountant who hates his work may dread every Monday morning, which can slowly damage his health and his family life. Point Another important factor is career growth. Explain A job with good training and chances of promotion can lead to a much higher salary later; as a result, a low starting wage is not always a bad choice. Link Consequently, a wise job seeker looks beyond the first salary.

Conclusion · 32 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that pay matters when people choose a career because it protects their families. Enjoyment of the work and future career prospects should also guide this important decision.

20. BUS-01 — Should governments limit very high salaries?

In some countries, a few people earn extremely high salaries. Some people think that this is good for a country, while others believe that the government should control salaries and limit the amount people can earn. Discuss both views and give your opinion.

Essay type	Discussion (both views + opinion)
Position	Very high salaries are good for a country and should not be limited.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Pay, Promotion and Motivation · Self-Employment and Entrepreneurship · Automation, Artificial Intelligence and the Future of Work (inequality)
Structure	Discuss Both Views guide: Both views + clean opinion → BP1 the other view (P E E X L) → BP2 my view (P E X R L) → Both themes + opinion in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	3 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 40 · BP1 95 · BP2 107 · Conclusion 43 · Total 285

Introduction · 40 words

While some people argue that governments should limit the very high salaries that a few people earn, others believe that these incomes benefit the country. I completely support the latter view because high rewards encourage hard work and new businesses.

Body Paragraph 1 · 95 words

Point On the one hand, people who support salary limits argue that very high incomes are unfair. Explain A few people earn millions while ordinary workers struggle to make ends meet. Explain Such differences are seen as unjust by many citizens; as a result, this could widen the gap between rich and poor and create social tension. Example For example, the director of a large company may earn hundreds of times more than a factory worker in the same company, and this can cause anger among the staff. Link For this reason, many people believe that governments should control salaries.

Body Paragraph 2 · 107 words

Point On the other hand, I firmly believe that high salaries are good for a country because they reward talent and encourage risk. Explain When people can earn large rewards, they are willing to study hard and start businesses, and new businesses create jobs for other people. Example For instance, many of today's large companies started as small businesses run by one or two people with an idea, which shows how the hope of high rewards can benefit thousands of workers. Response Although some people argue that such incomes are unfair, a legal limit could simply persuade talented professionals to move abroad. Link Consequently, countries gain more by allowing these high salaries.

Conclusion · 43 words

In conclusion, people hold different views on whether very high salaries benefit a country or should be limited by law. While such incomes can increase inequality, I firmly believe that they are good for a country because they reward talent and create jobs.

21. BUS-13 — Innovative individuals or team players?

Some people think that, when recruiting, companies should aim to take on people who are innovative and able to work independently, while others consider that they should recruit people who are able to work in a team and follow instructions. Discuss both views and give your opinion.

Essay type	Discussion (both views + opinion)
Position	Companies should recruit innovative people who can work independently.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Education, Skills and Getting a Job · Job Security versus Career Change · Automation, Artificial Intelligence and the Future of Work
Structure	Discuss Both Views guide: Both views + clean opinion → BP1 the other view (P E E X L) → BP2 my view (P E X R L) → Both themes + opinion in new words

Word count	Intro 35 · BP1 96 · BP2 100 · Conclusion 41 · Total 272

Introduction · 35 words

While some people argue that companies should recruit team players who follow instructions, others believe that innovative and independent people are more valuable. I completely support the latter view because new ideas drive business success.

Body Paragraph 1 · 96 words

Point On the one hand, people who prefer team players argue that most work today is done in groups rather than by individuals. Explain Employees must communicate well, share information and respect decisions so that projects run smoothly. Explain Serious mistakes can be avoided when instructions are followed carefully; as a result, the whole team works more safely. Example For example, factory workers who follow safety instructions exactly are less likely to cause an accident, and this protects everyone on the production line. Link For this reason, many people believe that companies should recruit people who work well in a team.

Body Paragraph 2 · 100 words

Point On the other hand, I firmly believe that innovative employees are more valuable because companies must constantly develop new products. Explain When machines can work continuously and perform repetitive tasks accurately, businesses need people who can think creatively, and these workers also need less supervision. Example For instance, a software company may depend on one creative developer to design an app that attracts millions of users, which could change the future of the business. Response Although some people argue that following instructions prevents mistakes, machines can now do much of this routine work. Link Consequently, companies should aim to recruit innovative and independent people.

Conclusion · 41 words

In conclusion, people hold different views on whether companies should choose independent thinkers or obedient team members.

While teamwork keeps daily work safe and smooth, I firmly believe that innovative people are more valuable because their ideas help companies to grow.

22. BUS-15 — Avoiding young women to avoid maternity leave?

Small businesses should avoid recruiting young women who do not have their own family in order to avoid paying maternity leave later on. To what extent do you agree or disagree?

Essay type	Agree / Disagree
Position	I completely disagree.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Gender Equality at Work
Structure	Agree/Disagree guide: Opinion + 2 ideas → BP1 Idea 1 (P E E X L) → BP2 Idea 2 (P E X R L) → Opinion + 2 ideas in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	3 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 42 · BP1 112 · BP2 108 · Conclusion 37 · Total 299

Introduction · 42 words

It is sometimes claimed that small companies should not employ young women without children, in order to avoid paying for maternity leave later. I completely disagree with this view because this practice is unfair to women and it also harms small businesses.

Body Paragraph 1 · 112 words

Point The main reason why I disagree with this idea is that this practice is unfair to women. Explain This is because people should be judged on their ability, not their gender, and not every young woman will have children or take long leave. Explain Such discrimination is not only unfair but also illegal in many countries; as a result, employers who follow this policy could also face legal problems. Example For example, a talented young accountant who is rejected only because she might have a baby one day could take the company to court, and this case could damage its name and its finances. Link Therefore, refusing to hire someone on this basis cannot be justified.

Body Paragraph 2 · 108 words

Point Another important reason for my disagreement is that this policy also harms small businesses. Explain When an employer rejects half of the population, it loses skilled staff, because companies that recruit from the whole population, rather than only half of it, have access to more talent and different perspectives. Example For instance, a small company that refuses to interview young women may hire a weaker candidate, which can reduce the quality of its work. Response Although some people argue that maternity leave is costly for small companies, governments can help by paying part of this cost. Link Consequently, recruiting the best person for each job is also the best choice for business.

Conclusion · 37 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that small businesses should not avoid hiring young women because of possible maternity leave. Such a policy treats female candidates unjustly, and it also prevents employers from finding the most talented staff.

23. BUS-16 — Is money the driving force behind hard work?

Sales companies should recruit people who are hungry for money, as they will make the most dedicated workers. Do you think money is the driving force behind hard work? What factors should be taken into consideration when recruiting staff for sales positions?

Essay type	Double Question — Opinion + List (opinion + recruitment factors)
Position	Money is not the main driving force behind hard work; communication skills and honesty matter more in salespeople.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Pay, Promotion and Motivation · Education, Skills and Getting a Job
Structure	Double Question guide (Opinion + List): Answer 1 + answer 2 → BP1 = Q1, Opinion block (P E X R L) → BP2 = Q2, List block (P E X P E L) → Both answers in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	2 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 35 · BP1 117 · BP2 94 · Conclusion 33 · Total 279

Introduction · 35 words

Some argue that sales companies should hire money-hungry people because they will work the hardest. I firmly believe that money is not the main driving force, and communication skills and honesty matter more in salespeople.

Body Paragraph 1 · 117 words

Point I firmly believe that money is not the main driving force behind hard work because once people earn enough to live comfortably, other factors often become more important. Explain When workers find their job interesting and feel appreciated by their managers, they put in extra effort that no bonus could buy. Example For example, a nurse on a modest salary may still work extra hours because she cares about her patients, which shows that commitment does not depend on pay. Response Although some people argue that people who are "hungry for money" make the most dedicated workers, such workers often leave when a rival offers more commission. Link Therefore, money is a motivator but not the main reason for hard work.

Body Paragraph 2 · 94 words

Point One important factor when recruiting sales staff is strong communication skills. Explain Good salespeople must listen carefully to customers and explain products clearly, so they can match the right product to each buyer and build trust. Example For instance, a mobile phone shop needs staff who can calmly help an angry customer, which keeps that customer loyal to the shop. Point Another important factor is honesty. Explain A salesperson who cares only about commission may mislead customers; as a result, the company's reputation can be seriously damaged. Link Consequently, companies should test these qualities through role-plays and trial periods.

Conclusion · 33 words

In conclusion, I firmly believe that hard work is driven by more than money because interest and appreciation also motivate people. Sales companies should choose staff who communicate well and treat customers honestly.

24. LEI-02 — More money or more free time?

Having more money and less free time is better than earning less money and having more free time. Discuss both views and state your opinion.

Essay type	Discussion (both views + opinion)
Position	More free time is better than more money.
Ideas from Idea Bank (Part 3)	Job Satisfaction versus High Salary · Work–Life Balance and Long Working Hours
Structure	Discuss Both Views guide: Both views + clean opinion → BP1 the other view (P E E X L) → BP2 my view (P E X R L) → Both themes + opinion in new words
Reused from Idea Bank	5 sentences (highlighted)
Word count	Intro 39 · BP1 111 · BP2 107 · Conclusion 42 · Total 299

Introduction · 39 words

While some people argue that having more money is better than having more free time, others believe that extra leisure is more valuable. I completely support the latter view because time with family and good health cannot be bought.

Body Paragraph 1 · 111 words

Point On the one hand, people who prefer a higher income argue that money brings security. Explain A good salary allows people to provide for their families, pay for their children's education, buy or rent a decent home and save for the future. Explain Little social support is offered in many developing countries; as a result, a well-paid job may be the only protection against illness, unemployment or old age. Example For example, a worker who saves extra income from overtime can pay for treatment when a parent falls ill, and this would be impossible on a low salary. Link For this reason, many people believe that more money is worth the loss of free time.

Body Paragraph 2 · 107 words

Point On the other hand, I firmly believe that more free time is better because extra money tends to add less to happiness than interesting work, good relationships and free time. Explain When people work very long hours, family relationships may suffer, and constant pressure can lead to stress, anxiety and burnout. Example For instance, a parent who works every evening may earn more but miss their children's school events, which can weaken the bond between them. Response Although some people argue that a high income brings security, people can live securely on a moderate salary if they manage it carefully. Link Consequently, extra free time is more valuable than extra money.

Conclusion · 42 words

In conclusion, people hold different views on whether more money or more free time leads to a better life. While a high income provides security, I firmly believe that free time is more valuable because it protects people's health and family relationships.
